EDITION OF GREEK TEXT

To date there is no fully critical edition of LXX Judges. The Göttingen edition has not yet appeared, and the edition of Brooke and Maclean is a “diplomatic” edition in which the main text is basically that of Codex Vaticanus (B). The NETS translation of Judges, therefore, is based on A. Rahlfs, Septuaginta. Id est Vetus Testamentum graece iuxta LXX interpretes, 2 vols. (Stuttgart: Württembergische Bibelanstalt, 1935).

In Judges Rahlfs based his edition on the readings of about twenty manuscripts. He identified two main textual traditions, which he believed were so diverse that they amounted to separate recensions (editions) of the book. He printed these as separate texts, designated A and B. NETS Judges, accordingly, offers a translation of both the A and the B texts.

Rahlfs based his A text upon Codex Alexandrinus (A) and two groups of manuscripts representing the recensions of the LXX associated, respectively, with Origen (c. 185–253 CE) and Lucian (c. 250–312 CE). His B text was based upon Codex Vaticanus (B).

OVERVIEW OF THE TEXT(S) OF JUDGES

Subsequent scholarship has refined Rahlfs’ classifications. The manuscripts which are seen as witnesses to an A-type of text are now divided into three groups, AI, AII and AIII, of which AI corresponds fairly closely to Rahlfs’ “Origenic” manuscripts, and AII to his “Lucianic” manuscripts. Similarly, the B-type of text is now held to be represented by two related but distinct manuscript groups.

It is generally held that the “Old Greek” (OG) of Judges is to be found within AII (the Lucianic group), particularly in a subgroup of AII formed by the manuscripts glnw. (The Old Latin, a translation made from an early form of LXX Judges, is also an important witness to the OG.) The two main reasons for this view are that AII and the Old Latin show less “kaige influence” than the other manuscript groups and that they show less evidence of “Hexaplaric contamination.”

“Kaige,” or “kaige revision,” is shorthand in Septuagint studies for a tendency, already observable in the first century CE, for earlier forms of the LXX to be revised towards a proto-Masoretic text (MT). This tendency is held to have reached its fullest expression in the Greek translation produced by Aquila (c. 140 CE). The revision towards the MT is notable for its use of “quantitative equivalents,” stock renderings of particular Hebrew words and phrases that seem to be chosen primarily to give Greek readers a sense of what was in the original Hebrew, with little concern for whether the resulting translation was idiomatic Greek. Of these the best known is the use of καί γε, “and indeed,” as the equivalent for מָג (“also”) and מָגָה (“and also”) after which the entire revising tendency has been named. Other characteristic translations linked with it are: ὁνίπ τὸν άνθρωπον ("man") in its distributive sense of "each"; εἰγόνονον εἰμὶ "I am", even with another finite verb; οὐκ εἶστιν "there is not". All of these translations occur in the A and B texts of Judges (though B alone has εἰγόνονον εἰμὶ + finite verb: cf. 5.3; 6.18; 11.27, 35).

“Hexaplaric contamination” takes its name from Origen’s Hexapla, a work set out in six columns for comparative purposes. It is the conflating into one LXX manuscript of readings which originally belonged in separate columns of the Hexapla, and the clearest sign of it is the presence of doublets, or double translations of words and phrases. For doublet translations in the manuscripts (including mss A and B) see Schreiner, pp. 90–104. Doublets are not entirely absent even from the AII group or from the subgroup glnw, which is why the Old Latin is important in Judges as offering independent testimony to the OG.

Neither the A nor the B text consistently represents the OG. The A text stands somewhat closer to it but still contains many examples of kaige revision and Hexaplaric contamination. What is more, whereas scholarship in the decades before Rahlfs tended to stress the independence of the textual traditions represented by A and B, the large amount of common ground between them should not be overlooked: in many passages A and B are very similar, if not normally identical. The A and B traditions probably derive from a single archetype, of which they represent different degrees of revision. It is likely, then, that the Göttingen edition, when it appears, will print only one main text, which will not be identical to either Rahlfs' A or B texts. Textually, therefore, NETS Judges is as provisional as the book's Greek text(s).

Translation Profile of the Greek

In what follows, a reference to either LXX A or B is always specified (e.g., 1.6A; 2.15B); references not so qualified apply to both A and B.

The Hebrew of Judges

MT Judges mostly consists of straightforward, clearly structured narrative, although it does contain occasional obscure words, e.g., מִמְּפַה in 11.14 (NRSV, “she dismounted”) or verses, e.g., 18.7, and there are some sections of narrative where the nature of the action described is unclear (e.g., Ehud’s escape, 3.23–25; Gideon’s attack on the Midianite camp, 7.16–22). But in general there is little that one would expect to cause a translator great difficulties. The one exception is the Song of Deborah in Judges 5, written in poetry generally thought to represent a more archaic form of Hebrew than that found in most parts of the Hebrew Bible and containing a number of rare words.

LXX Judges and its Vorlage

As it stands, LXX Judges (A and B) mainly represents a form of text very close to MT. In some cases, however, it is possible that LXX Judges is based on a different Vorlage.

So, for example:

1.14: “he urged her” (A), “Gothoniel urged her” (B), instead of “she urged him” (MT). MT is less logical.

16.13–14: LXX has several lines lacking in MT (see NRSV footnote).

19.2: LXX A “became angry,” possibly נַעַזְתָה (= NRSV) in place of MT’s נַעַזְתָה “played the harlot.”

19.30: LXX A includes the Levite’s instructions to those who carry the dismembered limbs of his concubine throughout Israel (see NRSV footnote; in LXX A, however, these instructions are illogically inserted after the Israelites’ response to this horrible message and not where NRSV might be taken to imply).

On other occasions the translator seems to have had a consonantal text identical to MT, but he apparently divided the consonants differently or supplied different vowels:

18.25: מִמְּפַה, “do not make your voice heard” = μή σκοπήστητα δή ἡ φωνή σου, “your voice had better not be heard” (LXX AB). Possibly מִמְּפַה has been vocalized as a Niphal, not a Hiphil.

Occasionally LXX has sentences in a different order compared to MT: e.g., the notice of Aod’s (Ehud’s) death in 3.30–4.1, especially in LXX A; the note about the location of the Ark at 20.26–28 in LXX B. In these cases the Vorlage was likely enough identical to MT, and the translation simply rearranges the sentences to produce what seemed to be a clearer or more logical presentation. Sometimes there are repeated elements or other dislocations in the text, which may be due to a scribal slip (e.g., in 18.8–9A; 18.16–20A).

Some of the cases where LXX Judges seems to offer a reading different from MT are probably due to inner-Greek corruption: εἰσπορευόμενοι, “would prostitute themselves” (2.15A) has probably arisen as a mis-copying of εἰσπορευόμενοι, “would go” or εἰσεχώρευομενοι, “marched out” (LXX B); εἰσεχώρευομενοι, “reaching” (5.15B) is probably a corruption of an earlier reading εἰσεχώρευομενοι, “searching out” (cf. the reading of LXX A ἄρχομενοι, “inquiries”). Other examples are: 6.34Β ἔφοβηθη, “was seized by fear” for ἔκακυθη, “called out”; 8.32Β ἐν πόλις αὐτοῦ, “in his city” for ἐν πόλις ὁμοθή, “with a good head of grey hair”; 9.7Β ἐκλαμπσάνει, “he wept” for ἐκλαμπσάνον, “he called out”; 15.18Β εὐδόκησας, “you have approved,” by error for ἐδοκασες “you granted.”

Selected Words and Phrases

LXX Judges is generally accurate, and it stays close to the sense of the Hebrew. But names and obscure words sometimes seemed to have caused the translator problems:

1.15: גּוֹלוֹת מַיִם, “Gulloth-mayim” (NRSV, fn. “Basins of Water”) becomes “redemption of water,” as though מַיִם were related to מָכַב “redeem.”
4.11: "Elon-bezaanannim" (NRSV) becomes "Oak-of-the-Resters" in LXX A, as though were related to 'ם"א, "undisturbed." LXX B translates it as "Oak-of-the-Greedy," seemingly linking with the root 'ם"א, "make a profit."

These translations are perhaps due not to simple error but to a desire to find theologically significant meanings in names by a kind of wordplay. But when LXX A translates at 20.33 מ"א, the Hiphil participle of a rare root meaning "burst forth" (cf. NRSV "rushed"), as "was struggling," this is probably no more than a guess. There are many such cases in Judges 5, where not only individual words but entire phrases seem to have caused difficulties. Thus, a comparison between 5.1–11 in NRSV and NETS reveals the following differences:

5.2: "When locks are long in Israel" (NRSV); "when chiefs take the lead in Israel" (= LXX A); "an unveiling was unveiled in Israel" (= LXX B)

5.7: "The peasantry prospered in Israel, they grew fat on plunder" (NRSV); "a spokesman was lacking in Israel; he was lacking" (= LXX A); "mighty ones were lacking in Israel; they were lacking" (= LXX B)

5.8 "When new gods were chosen, then war was in the gates" (NRSV); "they chose new gods, like barley bread" (= LXX A); "they chose new gods; then the cities of the rulers fought" (= LXX B)

5.10: "Tell of it, you who ride on white donkeys, you who sit on rich carpets . . . " (= LXX A); "mounted upon a female donkey at midday, sitting on tribunal . . . " (= LXX B)

Some of the LXX translations in these verses seem little short of nonsense. The translator has made his best guess at the meaning of individual words (and in this it may be said that he shows his intent to be faithful to the Hebrew), but these guesses taken together do not yield coherent sense. In most cases it is rare Hebrew words that have caused the problem. Things become a little better as the chapter proceeds, because many of the difficulties are found in the opening section. But it is impossible to read a modern, philologically informed translation of Judges 5 such as the NRSV without feeling that it has come closer to what the Hebrew likely meant.

Transliterations

Occasionally LXX Judges simply transliterates the Hebrew. Sometimes this may be because there was no obvious equivalent to the Hebrew: the rendering of מ"א "the Baals" as Baalim (2.11; 3.7; 8.33; 10.6, 10) may fall into this category. At other points transliteration may have been the translator's last resort in dealing with difficult Hebrew: 5.16A, מ"ס (NRSV "sheepfolds"); 5.22A, מ"ס (NRSV "galloping"); 8.7A, מ"ס, B מ"ס (NRSV "thorns"); 20.6B, מ"ס (NRSV "outrage"). At 5.7, מ"ס ("spokesman") is a recognizable Greek word, but one probably chosen because it resembled the Hebrew מ"ס (NRSV "peasantry") in sound. LXX B's otherwise obscure translation of מ"ס ("dead") at 5.27 by מ"ס ("gone") may have a similar explanation.

Word-for-Word Approach

It would be unfair, however, to focus only on the treatment of difficult words and passages. By and large LXX Judges conveys the sense of the Hebrew, sometimes with considerable skill. But it does so in a form of Greek that, by the standards of most ancient Greek literature, is not fully idiomatic. LXX Judges consistently reproduces in Greek constructions, which, while they are good Hebrew, are not attested in other forms of Greek or are only rarely attested. This is true of both LXX A and LXX B. In general LXX Judges follows a "word-for-word" translational model. Examples of this include the following:

(i) MT's standard connective ' (“and”) is typically glossed as καί (“and”) and only rarely by other particles one would expect to find in other forms of Greek. δὲ ("but/and/now") occurs 18x in LXX A and 12x in LXX B; δὲ (“but”) occurs 8x in LXX A and 3x in LXX B; οὖν ("so/therefore") 2x in LXX A and 3x in LXX B; γὰρ (“for”) 2x in LXX A and 3x in LXX B.

(ii) LXX Judges often translates the relative particle οἷς (“who/which/where,” etc.) well, using the appropriate form of relative clause. But in some cases the οἷς clause involves "relative resumption," ending with a word that refers back to the clause's antecedent. In these cases LXX Judges regularly translates word for word, yielding a kind of double translation of the relative particle. Thus מ"ס, מ"ס, מ"ס, מ"ס.
"the mission you are on" (18.6), in which רַב, "in it," picks up רַבְּנֵי, "your mission," becomes in LXX A רַבְּנֵי, "your journey, on which you are going in it." This is as clumsy in Greek as in English. (LXX B has a slightly varied but equally inelegant translation.) Making a slight concession to English usage, NETS translates LXX A at this point as "your journey, that upon which you are going." Other examples of the same phenomenon are: 6.10A; 14.17A; 16.11B, 26, 29; 18.5, 6, 10A; 20.22A.

(2) Prepositions
(i) Hebrew can use the preposition ב to mean either "into" or "in/among," depending on the context. Greek normally distinguishes εἰς followed by the accusative ("into") and ἐν followed by the dative ("in/among"), but LXX Judges uses ἐν + dative as a standard equivalent for Hebrew ב in either sense. This frequently produces what by the standards of most forms of ancient Greek amounts to an illiteracy. See for example, 1.2 ("in his hand") and 1.3 ("in your allotment").

(ii) A related point concerns Hebrew verbs followed by the preposition ב, such as ב לֹאש, "inquire of." At 1.1 LXX A renders this הֹרָאוֹת כֹּלְכֶל הַגָּאוֹן, "the sons of Israel were inquiring by the Lord"; LXX B has διά τοῦ κυρίου through the Lord," which is not much better. See also 18.5; 20.18, 23, 27.

(iii) The Hebrew preposition ב" between" is characteristically repeated in phrases of the type "between X and Y." An example is הַגָּאוֹן יִשְׂרָאֵל בַּמֵּ劑; 4.5), which LXX A renders αὸν μέσος Ραμα καὶ ὁνα μίσον Βαβήλα. This can only be rendered (unidiomatically) as "between Rama and between Baithel." LXX B has something very similar. See also 4.17; 9.23; 11.27; 13.25; 16.31.

(iv) Another preposition that is sometimes repeated is ב, "as/like," in phrases of the type "X and Y alike." Thus at 8.18 we read בְּמֵינָם בְּמִינָם (NRSV, "as you are, so were they"). LXX A renders this ὁμοίος συ, ὁμοίος αὐτῶν, "one like you was like (of) them."

(3) Verbs
(i) The Hebrew infinitive absolute is used to represent simultaneous action in an phrase such as לֶאֶב לֵאֶב in 14.9 (NRSV, "and went on, eating as he went"). LXX A renders this phrase και ἐπερεύθη καὶ προερέμενος καὶ ἔσθεν, "and went on, going and eating" (cf. LXX B). See also 4.24.

(ii) The infinitive absolute is also used to reinforce a finite verb from the same root. NRSV translates such phrases in a variety of ways: 7.19: "they had just set the watch"; 8.25: "we will willingly give"; 11.30: "if you will give"; 13.22: "we shall surely die." LXX Judges translates such expressions in one of two ways: either reinforcing the verb with a cognate noun in the dative (7.19A ἐγέρετο ἡγεμόνας, "he roused . . . with a rousing"; 13.22: θανάτῳ ὁ ποδοδούμμεθα "we shall die by death") or reinforcing it with a participle (7.19B ἐγέροντες ἡγεμόνας, "rousing they roused"; 8.25 διδόντες δεόμενον, "giving we will give"). Neither is good Greek. See also 15.2; 15.13; 16.11; 17.3; 21.5.

(iii) Biblical Hebrew uses לָשׁוֹן (Qal or Hiphil) followed by the infinitive construct of another verb to denote "doing something again": לֹאשׁ לָשׁוֹן לֶאֶב "the Israelites again did" (3.12), or, negatively מֵיא לָשׁוֹן "I shall no longer drive out" (2.21). LXX translates this idiom literally, using προστίθημι followed by an infinitive: 3.12 καὶ προσθήκην οἱ Ἰσραήλ ποιήσαν, "and the sons of Israel added to do"; 2.21 οὐ προσθήσῃς τοῦ εἴδος, "I will not add to remove." See also 4.1; 8.28; 9.37; 10.6, 13; 13.1, 23; 20.22, 23, 28. See also the translation of the analogous construction לֶאֶב לֶאֶב at 13.19 as καὶ διεξῆπταν ποιήσαν, and he separated to act" (LXX B).

(4) Idioms with "Man" and "Woman"
(i) In Hebrew מָשָׁה, "man" (singular) is used in a distributive sense, e.g., מָשָׁה מָשָׁה, "each to his inheritance." LXX generally translates this construction word for word: αὐτῷ εἰς τὴν κληρονομίαν αὐτοῦ, "a man . . . to his inheritance" (2.6B; see also 7.22: 10.18; 16.5; 21.1, 21–22, 25B). On four occasions, however, LXX A translates this construction more idiomatically, with ἐκκατόστος, "each," at 2.6; 7.21; 9.49; and 21.25.

(ii) The singulars of מָשָׁה and נָשָׁה, "woman" can also be used in a collective sense to denote a group of men or women; for instance: מָשָׁה מָשָׁה (NRSV, "the men of Israel," "the Israelites"); נָשָׁה נָשָׁה (21.16; NRSV, "there are no women left in Benjamin"). LXX Judges sometimes translates such phrases literally, using the singular in contexts that demand the plural, with awkward effect: 7.23; 20.15B, 36, 39A; 21.1A, 16. On other occasions the plural is used: מָשָׁה נָשָׁה נָשָׁה נָשָׁה at 20.17 is rendered τρικάσιμοι χιλιάδες ἄνδρον, "four hundred thousand men", cf. 20.15A. At 20.39 and 21.1 LXX B translates מָשָׁה collective with אוֹיִי לֵאֶב, "the sons of Israel," which suits the context better than the literal translation of LXX A.

TO THE READER OF JUDGES
Here is a further selection of unidiomatic phrases and odd-seeming translations in LXX Judges behind which a particular Hebrew word or idiom may be recognized:

2.1: “I will not scatter my covenant” = LXX; NRSV, “I will never break my covenant.”
3.22: “he even drove the hilt in after the flame” = LXX; NRSV, “after the blade.”
6.13, 15: “by me, Lord” = LXX; NRSV, “but sir.”
7.17: “you will see from me” = LXX; NRSV, “look at me.”
8.35: “they did not do mercy with” = LXX; NRSV, “they did not exhibit loyalty to.”
9.17: “cast his life in opposition” = LXX A; “cast forth his life in opposition” = LXX B; NRSV, “risked his life.”
14.7: “she was pleasing before Sampson” = LXX A; “she was made straight in Sampson’s sight” = LXX B; NRSV, “she pleased Samson.”
16.20: “I will go out as once and once” = LXX B; NRSV, “I will go out as at other times.”
18.19: “you will be to us for a father and for a priest” = LXX A; “become for a father and for a priest to us” = LXX B; NRSV, “be to us a father and a priest.”
19.1: “the thighs of the hill country of Ephraim” = LXX; NRSV, “the remote parts of the hill country of Ephraim.”
19.24: “the thing of this madness” = LXX; NRSV “such a vile thing.”
20.16: “All these were slingers of stones at a hair, and not missing” = LXX B; NRSV, “every one could sling a stone at a hair, and not miss.”
20.40: “and see, the annihilation of the city went up” = LXX; NRSV, “and there was the whole city going up in smoke.”
20.42: “overtook upon them” = LXX B; NRSV “overtook them.”
20.48: “and the cities that were found they sent off with fire” = LXX A; NRSV, “also the remaining towns they set on fire.”
21.19: “from days to days” = LXX A; NRSV “yearly.”

Translations such as these, it is important to note, reflect a deliberate choice on the translator’s part (or in some cases, on the part of those who have corrected an earlier text towards the Hebrew). It is not that the translator/reviser knew no better than to write pidgin-Greek. Rather, his consistent aim was that the translation should mirror its Vorlage as closely as possible, and so he has left within the translation many signals as to the nature of the Hebrew original. LXX Judges well exemplifies the “interlinear” paradigm, which informs NETS as a whole.

The translation here offered, in accordance with the principles of NETS, attempts to capture this aspect of LXX Judges by using English which, while grammatical, is at points unidiomatic, inelegant or illiterate. This happens literally hundreds of times. But the reader should not draw inappropriate conclusions about the LXX translator’s competence from this aspect of the translation.

“Theological” Renderings
At points within LXX Judges there may be a theological issue underlying the translation. The addition at the end of 4.8 (“for I do not know the day in which the Lord will send his angel on a good journey with me”) is an example: LXX speaks of God as intervening through a mediating figure rather than directly accompanying Barak, a type of interpretation that is more common in the Targum of Judges. (E.g., at 4.14 the Targum has “Is not the angel of the Lord going forth to ensure success before you?” in place of MT’s “the Lord is indeed going out before you.”) Something similar may apply to the narrative of Gideon and the angel of the Lord in Judg 6.11–24. MT speaks sometimes of “the angel of the Lord/God” (vv. 11, 12, 20–22), and sometimes of “the Lord” (vv. 14, 16, 23). LXX has “the angel of the Lord” throughout, except at v. 23, where it seems that Gideon only hears God’s voice and no longer sees any manifestation of God’s presence. LXX seems to go beyond MT in safeguarding God’s transcendence. Compare also 2.1: the form of the angel’s words in MT leaves it ambiguous whether he speaks as the Lord’s representative or in some sense as the Lord himself, but LXX A and B in different ways remove the ambiguity.

At 5.23 MT has: “they did not come to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty.” LXX A translates this “because they did not come to the help of the Lord; the Lord is our helper, mighty among warriors.” The second part of this translation echoes Psalms in which God is described as...
Israel’s or an individual’s helper (e.g., 18[19],15; 27[28],7; 113.17–19[115.9–11]), and that may partly explain LXX A’s deviation from MT. Additionally, it may be that the translator felt unease at words which seemed to suggest that God stood in need of human aid and so translated the second half of the line in a way that made clear that God is Israel’s helper, and not the other way around. (Targum, “they did not come to the aid of the people of the Lord, to the aid of the people of the Lord,” seems to have been similarly motivated, though its approach is different.) LXX B is closer to MT.

In Iotham’s parable, the olive tree speaks of “my rich oil by which gods and mortals are honored” (9.9 NRSV), and the vine speaks of “my wine that cheers gods and mortals” (9.13 NRSV). In these verses could instead be translated as “God.” LXX A at these points has “my fattiness which God and men extol in me” (v. 9) and “my wine, the good cheer of men, which comes from God” (v. 13), translations which avoid any suggestion of polytheism and perhaps also the idea that wine might make God merry (v. 13). LXX B has “my fattiness by which men extol God” at v. 9, an even more “theologically sound” translation than LXX A, but at v. 13 translates “my wine, that cheers God [or “god,” for there is no article] and men,” this last translation illustrating the point that tendencies in LXX Judges are not usually consistently attested.

Lastly, mention should be made of the bizarre translation of as “she-Baal/she-Baalim” at four points in LXX A: 2.13; 3.7; 10.6, 10. Baal with a feminine article and, therefore, as a goddess, may owe its origin to a popular association of Baal with “shame,” a feminine noun in both Hebrew and Greek. The Greek text as it stands, however, is clear.

8 And the sons of Ioudas fought against Iеrousalem and took it. And they struck it down with the edge of the sword and set the city on fire with fire. 9And after that the sons of Ioudas went down to fight against the Chananiote who lived in the hill country and the south and the lowland. 10And Ioudas went against the Chananiote who lived in Chebron, and Chebron came out in opposition (and the name, Chebron, was previously Karia-tharbokephser), and he struck down Sesi and Achim and Tholmi, offspring of Enak.

11 And from there they went against the inhabitants of Dabir (and the name of Dabir was formerly City of Letters). 12And Chaleb said, "Whoever strikes a blow against the City of Letters and captures it first, I will give him my daughter Ascha for a wife." 13And Gothoniel son of Kenez, Chaleb's younger brother, captured it first, and he gave him his daughter Ascha for a wife. 14And it came about, when she entered, that he urged her to ask for the field from her father. And she grumbled upon her draft animal and cried out from where she was on her draft animal. "You have given me away into the land of the south." And Chaleb said to her, "What do you want?" 15And Ascha said to him, "Give me a blessing; since you have given me away into the land of the south, you shall also give me redemption of water." And, according to her desire, Chaleb gave her the redemption of the upper and the redemption of the lower.

16 And the sons of Iothor the Kinite, Moyses' father-in-law, went up from the City of Palms to the sons of Ioudas, into the wilderness that is in the south near the descent of Arad. And he went and settled with the people. 17And Ioudas went with his brother Symeon, and they struck down the Chananiote who inhabited Sepheth and anathematized it and destroyed it. And they called the name of the city Destruction. 18And Ioudas did not inherit Gaza and its territory and Ascalon and its territory and Akkaron and its territory and Azotus and its surrounding lands. 19And the Lord was with Ioudas, and he inherited the hill country, for he could not inherit the inhabitants of the valley, because Rechab commanded it. 20And he gave Chebron to Chaleb, just as Moyses had said, and from there he inherited the three cities and removed from there the three sons of Enak. 21And the sons of Benjamin did not remove the lebousite who lived in Ierousalem, and the lebousite has lived with the sons of Benjamin to this day.

22 And the sons of Ioseph, indeed they too went up towards Baithel, and Ioudas with them. 23And the house of Israel encamped against Baithel (now the name of the city was formerly Louza). 24And those who were keeping watch saw a man coming out of the city, and they captured him and said to him, "Show us the way into the city, and we will do mercy with you." 25And he showed them... the way into the city, and they struck down the city with the edge of the sword, but they sent the man and his family away. 26 And the man left for the land of Chatti and built a city there and called its name Louza; that is its name to this day.

27 And Manasse did not inherit Baithsan (which is the city of the Scythians) or its daughters or its surrounding lands or Ekhanan and its daughters or the inhabitants of Dor and its daughters or the inhabitants of Laam and its daughters, and the Chananite began to live in that land. 28 And it came about that when Israel grew strong, he set the Chananite to pay tribute, and removing he did not remove him.

29 And Ephraim did not remove the Chananite who lived in Gazer, and the Chananite was living in his midst in Gazer and became for tribute.

30 And Zabulon did not remove the inhabitants of Kedron and the inhabitants of Enaal, and the Chananite lived in his midst and became for tribute.

31 And Aser did not remove the inhabitants of Akcho (and it became for tribute to him), and the inhabitants of Dor and the inhabitants of Sidon and the inhabitants of Aalaph and Acha and the city of Chelba and of Aphek and of Roob, 32 and Aser lived in the midst of the Chananite who inhabited the land, for he could not remove him.

33 And Nephthali did not remove the inhabitants of Baithsan and the city of Baithenath, and Nephthali lived in the midst of the Chananite who inhabited the land.

34 And the Amorrite pressed the sons of Dan back into the hill country, for he did not allow him to come down to the valley. 35 And the Amorrite began to live in the mountain of the Myrtle-grove, where there are bears and foxes, and the hand of the house of Joseph rested heavily on the Amorrite, and he became for tribute. 36 And the border of the Amorrite was the Idumean above Akkrabin, near Petra and above.

Now an angel of the Lord went up from Galgal to Weeping and to Baithel to the house of Israel, and he said to them, "The Lord, the Lord brought you up from Egypt and brought you into the land that he had sworn to your fathers to give to you. And he said to you, 'I will not scatter my covenant with you forever. 2 And for your part, you shall not make a covenant with those who have their seat in this land, nor shall you do obeisance to their gods, but you shall destroy their carved objects and tear down their altars.' And you did not listen to my voice when you did these things. 3And I said, I will not add to deport the people of whom I spoke, to destroy them from before you, and they shall be for causes of oppression to you, and their gods shall be for an obstacle to you. 4And it came about, as the angel of the Lord spoke these words to all Israel, that the people lifted up their voice and wept. 5For this reason the name of that place was called Weeping, and there they sacrificed to the Lord.

6 And Iesous dismissed the people, and the sons of Israel went away, each to his house and to his inheritance to inherit the land. 7And the people were subject to the Lord all the days of Iesous and all the days of the elders, those who prolonged their days after Iesous, those who had known all the Lord’s great work that he had done for Israel. 8And Iesous son of Naue, slave of the Lord, died, a son of one hundred and ten years. 9And they buried him within the bounds of his inheritance in Thamnathares, in the hill country of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaas. 10And that whole generation was added to their fathers, and another generation arose after them, those who did not know the Lord and the work that he had done for Israel.

11 And the sons of Israel did what was evil before the Lord and were serving the Baalim, 12and they abandoned the Lord, god of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt, and they went after other gods from among the gods of the peoples who were all around them and did obeisance to them, and they provoked the Lord to anger. 13And they abandoned the Lord and served the she-Baal and the Astartes. 14And the Lord was furiously angry with Israel, and he delivered them in the hand of plunderers, and they plundered them, and he gave them up in the hand of their enemies all around, and they could not withstand in the presence of their enemies. 15At every point at which they would prostitute themselves, the Lord’s hand also was to them for misfortune, as the Lord had said and as the Lord had sworn, and he oppressed them greatly.

16 And the Lord raised up judges for them and delivered them out of the hand of those who plundered them. 17And indeed they did not listen to their judges, for they prostituted themselves after other gods and did obeisance to them and provoked the Lord to anger. And they soon turned aside from the way in which their fathers had walked in obeying the commandments of the Lord; they did not do so. 18And because the Lord raised up judges for them, the Lord also was with the judge, and he delivered them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge, for the Lord was entreated by their groaning from before those who besieged and afflicted them. 19And it came about when the judge would die that they relapsed and again caused corruption beyond what their fathers had done, going after other gods, serving them and doing obeisance to them. They did not cast off their practices and they did not withdraw from their stubborn way.

voice, for you did these things. 3And I said, I will not remove them from before you, and they shall be causes of oppression for you, and their gods shall be for an obstacle to you." 4And it came about, as the angel of the Lord spoke these words to all the sons of Israel, that the people lifted up their voice and wept. 5And they named the name of that place Weepings, and there they offered sacrifice to the Lord.

6 And Iesous dismissed the people, and a man went to his inheritance to inherit the land. 7And the people were subject to the Lord all the days of Iesous and all the days of the elders, those who prolonged their days along with Iesous, those who had known all the Lord’s great work that he had done in Israel. 8And Iesous son of Naue, slave of the Lord, died, a son of one hundred ten years. 9And they buried him within the bounds of his inheritance in Thamnathares, in the hill country of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaas. 10And indeed, that whole generation was added to their fathers, and another generation arose after them, who did not know the Lord and, indeed, the work that he had done in Israel.

11 And the sons of Israel did what was evil before the Lord and served the Baalim, 12and they abandoned the Lord, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt, and they went after other gods from among the gods of the nations who were all around them and did obeisance to them, and they provoked the Lord to anger. 13And they abandoned him and served Baal and the Astartes. 14And the Lord was furiously angry against Israel, and he delivered them into the hands of plunderers, and they plundered them, and he gave them up in the hands of their enemies all around, and they could no longer withstand in the presence of their enemies. 15At every point at which they marched out, the Lord’s hand was also against them for misfortune, as the Lord had said and as the Lord had sworn, and he oppressed them greatly.

16 And the Lord raised up judges, and the Lord delivered them out of the hand of those who plundered them. 17And indeed they did not obey the judges, for they prostituted themselves after other gods and did obeisance to them. And they soon turned aside from the way in which their fathers had walked in obeying the words of the Lord; they did not do so. 18And because the Lord raised up judges for them, the Lord also was with the judge, and he delivered them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge, for the Lord was entreated by their groaning from before those who besieged and oppressed them. 19And it came about when the judge would die that they relapsed and again caused corruption beyond what their fathers had done, going after other gods, serving them and doing obeisance to them. They did not cast off their practices and their stubborn ways.
And the Lord was furiously angry against Israel, and he said, “Seeing that, inasmuch as this nation has abandoned my covenant that I commanded their fathers and has not obeyed my voice, 21for my part will not add to remove from before them a man from among the nations that lesous left behind and let be, 22to test Israel by means of them, whether or not they would keep to the way of the Lord, walking in it, as their fathers had kept to it.” 23And the Lord had let those nations be, not removing them at once, and had not delivered them in lesous’ hand.

And lesous left these nations so as to test Israel by means of them, all those who had no experience of all the wars of Chanaan 2(only on account of the generations of the sons of Israel, to teach them war; only, those before them did not know them): 3the five satrapies of the allophyles and the full number of the Chananite and the Sidonian and the Heuite who lived on Lebanon, from Mount Balærom as far as Laboemath. 4And it happened so as to test Israel by means of them, to know whether they would obey the commandments of the Lord, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moyses. 5And the sons of Israel lived in the midst of the Chananite and the Chettite and the Amorrite and the Pherezite and the Heuite and the Iebousite, 6and they took their daughters for wives for themselves, and their own daughters they gave to their sons, and they served their gods. 7And the sons of Israel did what was evil before the Lord, and they forgot the Lord, their God, and served the she-Baalim and the groves. 8And the Lord was furiously angry against Israel, and he gave them up into the hands of King Chousarsathaim of Syria-of-Rivers, and they were subject to him eight years. 9And the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, and the Lord raised up a deliverer for Israel, and he delivered them, Gothoniel son of Kenez, Chaleb’s brother, and he obeyed him. 10And a spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he judged Israel, and he went out to war, and the Lord gave King Chousarsathaim of Syria in his hand, and his hand prevailed over Chousarsathaim. 11And the land had rest fifty years. And Gothoniel son of Kenez died.

And the sons of Israel added to do what was evil before the Lord, and the Lord strengthened King Eglom of Moab against Israel, because they had done what was evil before the Lord. 13And he brought to him all the sons of Ammon and Amalek, and he went and struck down Israel, and he inherited the City of Palms. 14And the sons of Israel were subject to King Eglom of Moab eighteen years.

And the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, and the Lord raised up for them a deliverer, Aod son of Gera son of Iemeni, an ambidextrous man. And the sons of Israel sent gifts to King Eglom of Moab.
Moab by his hand. 16And Aod made for himself a double-bladed dagger, a span in length, and he fastened it on his right thigh under his cloak. 17And he presented the gifts to King Eglom of Moab. And Eglom was a very handsome man. 18And it came about, when Aod had finished presenting the gifts, that he sent those who bore the gifts on their way. 19And Eglom turned back from the carved objectsa with Galgal. And Aod said, “I have a secret message for you, O king.” And Eglom said to everyone, “Away!” and all his attendants went out from him. 20And Aod came in to him, and he was sitting alone, quite by himself in his summer roof-chamber. And Aod said, “I have a divine message for you, O king.” And Eglom rose from his seat, near to him. 21And it came about just as he rose up that Aod reached with his left hand and took the dagger from his right thigh and thrust it into Eglom’s belly, 22and indeed he even drove the hilt in after the flame, and the fat closed over the flame, for he did not draw the dagger out of his belly. 23And Aod went out into the vestibule, and he closed the doors of the roof-chamber on him and wedged them.

24 And he had gone out, and his servants came in. And they looked, and see, the doors of the roof-chamber were locked. And they said, “Perhaps he is sitting on the stool in the retreat of his bedroom.” 25And they waited, embarrassed. And see, there was no one to open the doors of the roof-chamber, and they took the key and opened, and see, their lord was lying dead on the ground.

26 And Aod escaped while they were in confusion (and there was no one paying attention to him) and he passed beyond the carved objectsa and escaped to Seirotha. 27And it came about when he arrived that he sounded with a horn in the hill country of Ephraim, and the sons of Israel went down with him, and he himself was at their head. 28And he said to them, “Come down after me, for the Lord God has given your enemies, Moab, in your hand.” And they went down after him and quickly seized the fords across the Jordan of Moab, and they did not allow a man to cross over. 29And at that time they struck down Moab, about ten thousand men, all the warriors among them, even every man of power, and not a man escaped. 30And Moab was humbled in that day under the hand of Israel. And the land had rest for eighty years. And Aod judged them until he died.

31 And after him arose Samegar son of Anath, and he struck down the allophyles, fully six hundred men, as well as calves of cattle. And he himself delivered Israel.
up in the hand of King Iabin of Chanaan, who reigned in Hasor, and the commander of his force was Sisara, and he himself lived in Harisoth-of-the-Nations. 3And the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, for he had nine hundred ironclad chariots and himself cruelly oppressed Israel for twenty years.

4 And at that time a woman, Debbora, a prophetess, wife of Laphidoth, was judging Israel by herself. 5And she used to sit by herself under the palm of Debbora between Rama and between Baithel in the hill country of Ephraim, and the sons of Israel would come up to her there to resolve disputes. 6And Debbora sent and summoned Barak son of Abineem from Kedes Nephthali and said to him, “Is it not you whom the Lord, the God of Israel, commanded? And you shall leave for Mount Thabor and bring with you ten thousand men from the sons of Nephthali and from the sons of Zaboulon. 7And I will bring out to you, to the Wadi Kison, Sisara, commander of Iabin’s force, and his chariots and his horde, and I will give him in your hand. 8And Barak said to her, “If you will go with me, I will go, and if you will not go with me, I will not go, for I do not know the day in which the Lord will send his angel on a good journey with me.” 9And Debbora said to him, “Going I will go with you, but know that it will not be your success for the journey on which you are going, for the Lord will give Sisara up in the hand of a woman.” And Debbora got up and went with Barak to Kedes. 10And Barak summoned Zaboulon and Nephthali to Kedes, and ten thousand warriors went up at his heels, and Debbora went up with him.

11 And the fellows of the Kinite had separated from the sons of Iobab, a relative by marriage of Moyses, and he had pitched his tent by Oak-of-the-Resters, which is near Kedes.

12 And they told Sisara that Barak son of Abineem had gone up to Mount Thabor, 13and Sisara called out all his chariots, for he had nine hundred iron-clad chariots, and all the people who were with him, from Harisoth-of-the-Nations, to the Wadi Kison. 14And Debbora said to Barak, “Up! For this is the day in which the Lord has given Sisara in your hand. See, will the Lord not go before you?” 15And Barak went down from Mount Thabor, and ten thousand men behind him. 16And the Lord threw Sisara and all his chariots and all his camp into a panic by the edge of the sword before Barak, and Sisara got down from his chariot and fled away on his feet. 17And Barak was pursuing after the chariots and after the camp, all the way to Thicket-of-the-Nations. And all the camp of Sisara fell by the edge of the sword; not even one was left.

And Sisara had retreated on his feet to the tent of Iael, wife of Chaber the Kinite, for there was peace between King Iabin of Hasor and between the clan of Chaber the Kinite. 18And Iael came out

Lord gave them up in the hand of King Iabin of Chanaan, who reigned in Hasor, and the commander of his force was Sisara, and he himself lived in Harisoth-of-the-Nations. 3And the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord, for he had nine hundred ironclad chariots and himself cruelly oppressed Israel for twenty years.

4 And at that time a woman, Debbora, a prophetess, wife of Laphidoth, was judging Israel by herself. 5And she used to sit by herself under the palm of Debbora between Rama and between Baithel in the hill country of Ephraim, and the sons of Israel would come up to her for judgment.

6And Debbora sent and summoned Barak son of Abineem from Kades Nephthali and said to him, “Did not the Lord, the God of Israel, command you? And you shall leave for Mount Thabor and bring with you ten thousand men of the sons of Nephthali and of the sons of Zaboulon. 7And I will bring against you, to the Wadi Kison, Sisara, commander of Iabin’s force, and his chariots and his horde, and I will give him into your hands.” 8And Barak said to her, “If you will go with me, I will go, and if you will not go, I will not go, for I do not know the day on which the Lord will send his angel on a good journey with me.” 9And she said, “Going I will go with you, but know that it will not be your success on the journey on which you are going, for the Lord will give Sisara up in the hand of a woman.” And Debbora got up and went with Barak from Kades. 10And Barak called out to Zaboulon and Nephthali from Kades, and ten thousand warriors went up at his heels, and Debbora went up with him.

11 And Chaber the Kinite had separated from Kaina, from the sons of Iobab, a relative by marriage of Moyses, and he had pitched his tent as far away as Oak-of-the-Greedy, which is near Kedes.

12 And Sisara was told that Barak son of Abineem had gone up towards Mount Thabor, 13and Sisara called out all his chariots, nine hundred iron-clad chariots, and all the people who were with him, from Harisoth-of-the-Nations, to the Wadi Kison. 14And Debbora said to Barak, “Up! For this is the day in which the Lord has given Sisara in your hand. And the entire camp of Sisara fell by the edge of the sword; not even one was left.

18 And Sisara had fled on his feet to the tent of Iael, wife of Chaber, comrade of the Kinite, for there was peace between King Iabin of Hasor and between the clan of Chaber the Kinite. 19And Iael... came out to meet Sisara and said to him, "Turn aside, my lord, turn aside to me; have no fear." And he turned aside to her, into the tent, and she covered him with a garment. 19 And Sisara said to her, "Do but give me a little water to drink, for I am thirsty." And she opened the skin of milk and gave him a drink and covered up his face. 20 And he said to her, "Stand at the entrance of the tent, and it shall be, if anybody comes to you and asks you and says to you, 'Is a man within?' that you will say, 'There is not.' " And she covered him up with her skin curtain. 21 And Iael, wife of Chaber, took the tent peg and placed the hammer in her hand and secretly went in towards him and drove the peg in his temple, and it went through in the ground. And as for him, he writhed between her knees, and he breathed his last and died. 22 And see, Barak was pursuing Sisara, and Iael went out to meet him and said to him, "Come here, and I will show you the man whom you are seeking." And he went in to her, and see, Sisara, a fallen corpse, and the tent peg in his jaw.

23 And in that day God routed King Iabin of Chanaan before the sons of Israel. 24 And the hand of the sons of Israel went out, going and becoming hard against King Iabin of Chanaan until they destroyed King Iabin of Chanaan.

And Debbora sang, and Barak son of Abineem, in that day and said:

2 "When chiefs take the lead in Israel, when people make their free choice, bless the Lord!

3 "Hear, O kings; give ear, O mighty satraps; I will sing to the Lord, I will make music to the God of Israel.

4 "Lord, at your marching out from Seir, when you set out from the field of Edom, earth trembled, and the sky was convulsed. and the clouds dripped water.

5 Mountains quaked from before the Lord, this Sina, from before the Lord, God of Israel.

6 "In the days of Samegar son of Anath, in the days of Iael, kings were lacking, and they traveled paths; they traveled twisting roads.

7 A spokesman was lacking in Israel; he was lacking until Debbora rose up, for she arose as a mother in Israel.

8 They chose new gods, like barley bread— protection, if I see it, of barbed lances among forty thousand!
9 My heart is for what was ordained for Israel; you the powerful of the people, bless the Lord.

10 “Mounted upon draft animals, sitting on covered chariots,

11 utter a sound of people who strike up music, in the midst of those who rejoice! There they will attribute righteousness to the Lord.

The righteous prevailed in Israel; then the people of the Lord went down to their cities.

12 “Awake, awake, Debbora! Arouse tens of thousands along with the people! Awake, awake, speak with a song. Strengthen, arise, Barak, and, Debbora, strengthen Barak. Take captive your captives, O son of Abineem.

13 When was his strength increased? Lord, humble for me those who are stronger than me.

14 People of Ephraim wreaked vengeance on them in your brother Benjamin’s valley, among your peoples. At my leading Machir went down in search, and from Zaboulon the Lord would fight for me among the mighty, from there with the scepter of him who prevails in leadership.

15 In Issachar he sent his foot-soldiers with Debbora into the valley. You, why do you dwell in the midst of shores? He spread out with his feet. Among the divisions of Rouben there were great inquiries of heart.

16 Tell me; why do you sit among the moshphathaim, to hear the pipings of those who arouse? To cross over into the territory of Rouben there were great searchings of heart.

17 Galaad encamped beyond the Jordan; and Dan, why does he dwell by the ships? Aser sojourned at the shore of seas and encamped by his channels.

18 Zaboulon is a people that scorned their life to death; Nephthalim too, on the heights of the field.

19 “Kings came, and they mustered,

9 My heart is on what was ordained for Israel; you who volunteer among the people, bless the Lord.

10 “Mounted upon a female donkey at midday, sitting on tribunal and going towards the ways of councils, on the way,

11 recount with a voice of those who strike up music, in the midst of those who draw water! There they will attribute acts of righteousness to the Lord. Increase acts of righteousness in Israel! Then the Lord’s people went down to the cities.

12 “Awake, awake, Debbora! Awake, awake! Declare a song; arise, Barak, and take captive your captives, O son of Abineem.

13 Then a remnant went down for the strong ones; the people of the Lord went down for him among the powerful.

14 At my leading Ephraim uprooted them in Amalek, behind you, Benjamin, among your peoples; through me Machir went down in search, and from Zaboulon those who draw with a rod of a scribe’s account.

15 And chiefs in Issachar were with Debbora and Barak. Thus Barak sent away in the valleys at his feet. Into the portions of Rouben there were great ones reaching for heart.

16 To what end did they sit between the double load, to hear the piping of messengers? Into the divisions of Rouben there were great examinings of heart.

17 Galaad encamped beyond the Jordan; and Dan, to what end does he dwell by the ships? Aser sojourned at the coast of seas and will camp by its outlets.

18 Zaboulon the people scorned their life to death; Nephthalim too, on the heights of the field.

19 “Their kings came, they mustered, then fought kings of Chanaan at Thennach, by the water of Mageddo; they got no excessive share of silver.

20 Stars fought from the sky, from their courses they fought with Sisara.

21 Wadi Kison carried them away, Wadi Kademim, Wadi Kison.

My mighty soul will trample them!

22 “Then tendons of a horse were cut, amadarotha⁴ of his mighty ones.

23 “Curse Maroz, said the angel of the Lord, curse its inhabitants with a curse, because they did not come to the help of the Lord; the Lord is our helper, mighty among warriors.

24 “May Iael of women be blessed, wife of Chaber the Kinite; of women in tents may she be blessed.

25 He asked for water, and she gave him milk; she brought butter near in a dish of strong ones.

26 She put her left hand to a peg, her right hand to the cutting off of weary ones, and she beheaded Sisara; she crushed his skull, and she shattered and pierced his jaw.

27 Between her feet he doubled up and fell; he lay between her feet; where he doubled up, there he fell, wretched.

28 “Out of the window the mother of Sisara was leaning down, looking down through the lattice at those who returned with Sisara: ‘Why is his chariot the last to arrive? Why tarry the tracks of his chariots?’

29 The wise among her leading ladies replied to her; she too answered with her own words:

30 ‘Will they not find him dividing the spoil, showing friendship to friends towards a mighty man’s head? Sisara’s spoils of dyed cloth, spoils of dyed, embroidered cloth, a dyed robe of embroidered cloth around his neck as spoil?’

31 “So perish all your enemies, O Lord! And may those who love him be like the rising of the sun in its dominance.”

And the land had rest forty years.

And the sons of Israel did what was evil before the Lord, and the Lord gave them up in the hand of Midian seven years. And the hand of Midian prevailed over Israel, and the sons of Israel made for themselves, from before Midian, shelters in the mountains and in the caves and the strongholds. And it came about whenever a man of Israel put in seed that Midian would come up, and Amalek and the sons of the east would come up with them. And they encamped against them and they ruined their crops, until coming to Gaza, and they did not leave support for life in Israel, even flock and calf and donkey. For they and their livestock would come up, and they would bring their tents, and they would arrive like a grasshopper in great numbers, and there was no number for them or their camels, and they would arrive in the land of Israel to waste it. And Israel was greatly impoverished from before Midian, and the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord.

And it came about, when the sons of Israel cried to the Lord on account of Midian, that the Lord sent a man, a prophet, to the sons of Israel, and he said to them, "This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: I am the one who made you come up from Egypt, and I led you out of a house of slavery, and I delivered you from the hand of Egypt and from the hand of all who oppressed you, and I drove them out from before you and gave you their land, and I said to you, 'I am the Lord your God; you shall not pay reverence to the gods of the Amorrite, among whom you dwell, in their land.' And you have not given heed to my voice."

And an angel of the Lord came and sat under the oak, which was at Ephrata, which belonged to Ioas, father of Abiezri, and his son Gideon was beating out wheat in a wine press to escape from before Midian. And an angel of the Lord appeared to him and said to him, "The Lord is with you, mighty in strength." And Gideon said to him, "By me, Lord? And if the Lord is with us, why have all these evils found us? And where are all his wonders, everything our fathers recounted to us, saying, 'Did not the Lord bring us up from Egypt?' But now he has cast us off and given us up in the hand of Midian." And the angel of the Lord looked at him and said to him, "Go in your strength and you will deliver Israel, and see, I have sent you forth." And Gideon said to him, "By me, lord? By what means shall I deliver Israel? See, my thousand is more lowly in Manasses, and I am insignificant in my father's house." And the angel of the Lord said to him, "The Lord will be with you, and you shall strike down Midian as you would one man." And Gideon said to him, "And if I have found favor in your eyes and you will perform a sign for me that it is you who speak with me, do not stir from here until I come to tell you your return."

And the Lord said to him, "Go in this your strength, and you will deliver Israel, the Lord, and the Lord gave them in the hand of Midian seven years. And the hand of Midian prevailed over Israel, and the sons of Israel made for themselves, from before Midian, the hollows in the mountains, and the caves and the strongholds.

And it came about if the sons of Israel put in seed that Midian came up, and Amalek and the sons of the east would come up with them. And they encamped against them and they ruined their crops, until coming to Gaza, and they did not leave support for life in the land of Israel, nor bull nor donkey among the herds. For they and their possessions would come up, and their tents would arrive like a grasshopper in great numbers, and there was no number for them or their camels, and they would enter the land of Israel and waste it. And Israel was greatly impoverished from before Midian, and the sons of Israel called out to the Lord from before Midian.

And the Lord sent a man, a prophet, to the sons of Israel, and he said to them, "This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: I am he who brought you up from the land of Egypt, and I led you out of your house of slavery, and I rescued you from the hand of Egypt and from the hand of all who oppressed you, and I drove them out from before you and gave you their land, and I said to you, 'I am the Lord your God; you shall not pay reverence to the gods of the Amorrite, among whom you dwell, in their land.' And you have not given heed to my voice."

And an angel of the Lord came and sat under the terebinth at Ephrata, which belonged to Ioas, father of Abiezri, and Gideon was his son, beating out grain in the wine press so as to escape from before Midian. And the angel of the Lord appeared to him and said to him, "The Lord is with you, strong among the powers." And Gideon said to him, "By me, my lord? And if the Lord is with us, to what end have these evils found us? And where are all his wonders that our fathers recounted to us, saying, 'Did not the Lord truly bring us up from Egypt?' But now he has cast us out and given us in the hand of Midian." And the angel of the Lord turned towards him and said, "Go in this your strength, and you will deliver Israel from the hand of Midian; see, I have sent you forth." And Gideon said to him, "By me, my lord? By what means shall I deliver Israel? See, my thousand became weak in Manasses, and I am the lesser one in my father's house." And the angel of the Lord said to him, "The Lord will be with you, and you shall strike down Midian as you would one man." And Gideon said to him, "But if I have found pity in your eyes and you will do for me today everything you spoke about with me, do not de-you, and I will bring my sacrifice and place it before you.” And he said, “I am he; I will stay seated until you return.”

19 And Gedeon entered and prepared a goat kid and unleavened cakes from an oiphia of wheat flour, and the meat he placed in the breadbasket, and the broth he poured into a pot and brought it out to him under the oak and did obeisance. 20And the angel of the Lord said to him, “Take the meat and the unleavened cakes, and put them by that rock, and pour out the broth.” And he did so. 21And the angel of the Lord reached out the tip of the rod that was in his hand and touched the meat and the unleavened cakes, and fire ignited from the rock and consumed the meat and the unleavened cakes, and the angel of the Lord departed from his sight. 22And Gedeon perceived that it was an angel of the Lord, and Gedeon said, “Ah, ah, Lord, Lord! For I have seen the angel of the Lord face to face.” 23And the Lord said to him, “Peace be to you; do not be afraid; you will not die.” 24And Gedeon built an altar there to the Lord and called it Peace of the Lord, it being still at Ephratha of Ezri’s father to this day.

25 And it came about in that night that the Lord said to him, “Take your father’s fattened calf, the seven-year-old one. And you will pull down the altar of Baal that is your father’s and cut down the grove that is beside it, 26and you will build an altar to the Lord your God, who appeared to you on the peak of this Mount Maoz, in proper order, and you will take the calf and offer up a whole burnt offering with the wood of the grove that you shall cut down.” 27And Gedeon took thirteen men from among his slaves and did as the Lord had told him, and it came about, since he was afraid of his father’s household and the men of the city, so as not to do it by day, that he did it by night.

28 And the men of the city arose early in the morning, and see, the altar of Baal broken down, and the grove beside it cut down, and the fattened calf offered up for a whole burnt offering on the altar that had been built! 29And a man said to his fellow, “Who has done this deed?” And they were searching and seeking, and they said, “Gedeon son of Ioas did this deed.” 30And the men of the city said to Ioas, “Bring out your son, and let him die, because he has broken down the altar of Baal and because he has cut down the grove beside it.” 31And Ioas said to the men who were arrayed against him, “Are you now acting as judges for Baal? Or are you delivering him? He who has sought judgment against him shall die by morning. If he is a god, he will exact justice from him, because he has broken down his altar.” 32And in that day he called it Baal’s Court of Justice, because he pulled down his altar.

7 And Jerubbaal (he is Gideon) rose early, and all the people that were with him, and encamped beside the land of Aroed, and the camp of Midian was north of him, away from the hill of Abar, in the valley.

2 And the Lord said to Gideon, "The people with you are numerous; so I will not give up Midian in their hand. Israel would only boast against me, saying, 'My own hand has delivered me.'"

3 And Gideon said to God, "Let not your anger be aroused against me, and I will speak one more time, and I will make trial with the fleece one more time, and let there be dryness only on the fleece, but over all the ground let there be dew."

4 And God did so in that night. And there was dryness on the fleece only, but over all the ground there was dew.

away, a man to his dwelling, but retained the three hundred men. Now the camp of Madiam was below him in the valley.

9 And it happened in that night that the Lord said to him, "Get up, go down quickly from here into the camp, for I have given it up in your hand. 10 But if you fear to go down, you and your young servant Phara go down into the camp, 11 and you shall hear what they say, and afterward your hands shall be strengthened, and you shall go down into the camp." And he went down, he and his young servant Phara within the bounds of the fifty in the camp. 12 And Madiam and Amalek and all the sons of the east had encamped in the valley like a grasshopper, in great numbers, and there was no number for their camels, but they were like the sand on the seashore, in great numbers. 13 And Gedeon entered, and see, a man was telling his dream to his comrade, and he said, "See, the dream which I dreamed, and see, a cake of barley bread was tumbling in the camp of Madiam, and it came to the tent of Madiam and struck it and overturned it, and the tent collapsed." 14 And his comrade answered and said, "This is nothing other than the sword of Gedeon son of Ioas, a man of Israel; the Lord has given up Madiam and all the camp in his hand."

15 And it came about, when Gedeon heard the narration of the dream and its interpretation, that he did obeisance to the Lord, and he returned to the camp of Israel and said, "Get up, for the Lord has given the camp of Madiam in your hands." 16 And he divided the three hundred men into three commands and put horns in the hand of all of them and empty jars and torches in the middle of the camp. 17 And he said to them, "You will see from me and do the same. And see, I am going into the middle of the camp, and it will be that as I do, so you shall do. 18 And I shall sound with the horn, I and all those with me, and you also shall sound with your horns around the camp and say, 'For the Lord and for Gedeon!'

19 And Gideon and a hundred men with him entered in the bounds of the camp at the beginning of the midnight watch; however, he roused the guards with a rousing, and they sounded with the horns and shook out the jars that were in their hands. 20 And the three commands sounded with the horns and broke the jars and grasped the torches in their left hand, and in their right hand were the horns to sound, and they cried, 'A sword for the Lord and for Gedeon!' 21 And everyone stood in his place all around the camp, and they ran, all the camp, and they gave signals and fled. 22 And the three hundred horns sounded, and the Lord set a man's dagger against his fellow and against all the camp, and the camp fled as far as Baithaseta and was pressed back as far as the edge of Abomeoula and by Tabath. 23 And a man of Israel sounded the cry from Nephthalim and from Aser and from all Manasses, and they took up the pursuit after Madiam.

tent, and he encouraged the three hundred men. And the camp of Madiam was below him in the valley.

9 And it happened in that night that the Lord said to him, "Get up, and go down in the camp, for I have given it up in your hand. 10 And if you fear to go down, you and your young servant Phara go down into the camp, 11 and you shall hear what they will say, and after that your hands shall be strengthened, and you shall go down in the camp." And he went down, he and his young servant Phara towards the command of the fifty that were in the camp. 12 And Madiam and Amalek and all the sons of the east were thrown in the valley like a grasshopper, in great numbers, and there was no number for their camels, but they were like the sand on a seashore, in great numbers. 13 And Gedeon arrived, and see, a man telling a dream to his comrade, and he said, "A dream, see, I dreamed, and see, a cake of barley bread was spinning round in the camp of Madiam, and it came to the tent and struck it, and it collapsed, and it turned it upside down, and the tent collapsed." 14 And his comrade answered and said, "This is nothing if not the sword of Gedeon son of Ioas, a man of Israel; God has given up Madiam and all the camp in his hand."

15 And it came about, when Gideon heard the explanation of the dream and its interpretation, that he did obeisance to the Lord, and he returned to the camp of Israel and said, "Get up, for the Lord has given the camp of Madiam in your hand." 16 And he divided the three hundred men into three commands and put horns in the hands of all of them and empty jars and torches in the hands of all of them. 17 And he said to them, "You will see from me and do the same. And see, I am entering in the command of the camp, and it will be that as I do, so you shall do. 18 And I shall sound with the horn for my part, and all you with me shall sound with your horns around the entire camp and say, 'For the Lord and for Gedeon!'

19 And Gideon and the hundred men with him entered in the bounds of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, and rousing they roused the guards, and they sounded with the horns and shook out the jars that were in their hands. 20 And the three commands sounded with the horns and broke the jars and seized the torches in their left hands, and in their right hands the horns to sound, and they cried, 'A sword for the Lord and for Gedeon!' 21 And they stood, a man for himself, all around the camp, and all the camp ran, and they gave signals and fled. 22 And they sounded with the three hundred horns, and the Lord set a man's sword against his fellow throughout all the camp, and the camp fled as far as Beth-secedta Garagatha, as far as the edge of Abomeoula by Tabath. 23 And they sounded the cry, a man of Israel, from Nephthali and from Aser and from all Manasses, and they pursued after Madiam.
And Gedeon sent messengers throughout all the territory of Ephraim, saying, “Come down to meet Madiam, and seize the water for yourselves as far as Baithbera and the Jordan.” And every man of Ephraim sounded the cry, and they quickly seized the water as far as Baithbera and the Jordan.

And they captured the two commanders of Madiam, Oreb and Zeb, and they killed Oreb at Sourin, and Zeb they killed at Lakeph-Zeb, and they pursued Madiam. And they brought the head of Oreb and Zeb to Gedeon, from beyond the Jordan.

And a man of Ephraim said to him, “Why have you done this thing to us, not to call us when you were setting out to fight against Madiam?” And they disputed with him forcefully. And he said to them, “What have I done now as you have? Are not the gleanings of the grapes of Ephraim better things than the vintage of Abiezer? God has given up in your hand the commanders of Madiam, Oreb and Zeb, and what have I been able to do as you have?” And they desisted. Then their spirit abated because of him, when he spoke this word.

And Gedeon came to the Jordan and crossed over, he and the three hundred men with him, faint and famished. And he said to the men of Sokchoth, “Do give some loaves to the people who are with me, for they are famished, but as for me, I am pursuing after Zebee and Salmana, kings of Madiam.” And the rulers of Sokchoth said, “Do you already have in your hand a hand of Zebee and Salmana, that we shall give loaves to your men, all those who are left out of all the army of Madiam, Oreb and Zeb, and what have I been able to do as you have?” Then their spirit abated because of him, when he spoke this word.

And Gedeon came to the Jordan and crossed over, he and the three hundred men who were with him, famished and pursuing. And he said to the men of Sokchoth, “Do give some loaves as food for this people which is at my feet, for they are fainting, and see, as for me, I am pursuing after Zebee and Selmana, kings of Madiam.” And the rulers of Sokchoth said, “Do you already have in your hand a hand of Zebee and Selmana, that we shall give loaves to your army?” And Gedeon said, “Not so! When the Lord has given Zebee and Selmana in my hand, then I for my part will thresh your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with the barksennim.” And from there he went up to Phanouel and spoke to them in a similar way, and the men of Phanouel answered him as the men of Sokchoth had answered him. And he said to the men of Phanouel, saying, “When I come back in peace, I will break down this tower.”

And Zebee and Selmana were in Karkar, and their camp was with them, about fifteen thousand, those who were left among all the camp of the sons of the east, and those who had fallen were one hundred and twenty thousand men who had drawn a sword. And Gedeon went up by the route of those who dwell in tents, east of Nabeth, opposite Zebee, and struck the camp, but the camp was confident. And Zebee and Salmana fled, and he took up the pursuit after them and seized the two kings of Madiam, Zebee and Salmana, and destroyed all their camp.

And Gedeon son of Ioas returned from the battle, from above the battle of Hares. And he caught a lad, one of the men of Sokchoth, and he questioned him, and he noted down for them the rulers of Sokchoth and its elders, seventy-seven men. And Gedeon came to the rulers of Sokchoth and said to them, "See! Zebee and Salmana, on whose account you taunted me, saying, 'Do you perhaps already have in your hand a hand of Zebee and Salmana, that we shall give loaves to your men who are exhausted?' " 16 And he took the rulers and the elders of the city, and he cut them to pieces with the thorns of the wilderness and the barakenim, and he cut the men of Sokchoth to pieces with them. And he broke down the tower of Phanouel and killed the men of the city.

18 And he said to Zebee and Salmana, "Where are the men whom you killed at Thabor?" And they said, "As you are: one like you was like them, like the appearance, the form, of kings' sons." 19 And Gedeon said, "They are my brothers and the sons of my mother." And he swore to them: "The Lord lives: if you had brought them to life, I would not have killed you." 20 And he said to his firstborn, "Get up, and kill them!" And the lad did not draw his dagger, for he was afraid, because he was too young. 21 And Zebee and Salmana said, "You then get up and face us, for your power is like a man's." And Gedeon got up and killed Zebee and Salmana, and he took the crescents that were on the necks of their camels.

22 And a man of Israel said to Gedeon, "Rule among us, you and your sons, for you have delivered us out of the hand of Madiam." 23 And Gedeon said to them, "I will not rule over you, and my son will not rule over you; the Lord will rule over you." 24 And Gedeon said to them, "I will request a request of you, and you, a man, give me an earring from your booty." (For they had many golden earrings, because they were Ismaelites.) 25 And they said, "Giving we will give them." And he spread his garment, and a man cast there a golden earring of his booty. 26 And the weight of the golden earrings that he requested was one thousand five hundred shekels of gold (apart from the golden earrings that he requested was one thousand five hundred shekels of gold (apart from the crescents and the necklaces and the cloaks and purple garments that were on the kings of Madiam and apart from the golden collars that were on the necks of their camels). 27 And Gedeon made it into an ephod and put it in his city, in Ephratha, and all Israel prostituted themselves after it there, and it became for an obstacle to Gedeon and to his house. 28 And Madiam was humbled before the sons of Israel, and they did not add to lift up their head. And the land had rest forty years in the days of Gedeon.

29 And Jerobaal son of Ioas went and lived in his own house. 30 And Gedeon had seventy sons who came from his thighs, for he had many wives. 31 And his concubine who was in Sikima, she indeed bore him a son, and he named his name Abimelech. 32 And Gedeon son of Ioas died with a hand of Phanouel and killed the men of the city among the thorns of the wilderness and the barakenim, and he threshed the men of the city with them. Zebee and Selmana, by means of whom you taunted me, saying, 'Do you perhaps already have in your hand a hand of Zebee and Selmana, that we shall give loaves to the men who are fasting?' " 16 And he took the elders of the city among the thorns of the wilderness and the barakenim, and he threshed the men of the city with them. And he toppled the tower of Phanouel and killed the men of the city.

18 And he said to Zebee and Selmana, "Where are the men whom you killed at Thabor?" And they said, "As you are, so were they, for a likeness of a king's son." 19 And Gedeon said, "They were my brothers and the sons of my mother. The Lord lives: if you had brought them to life, I would not have killed you." 20 And Iether said to his firstborn, "Get up, and kill them!" And the lad did not draw his sword, for he was afraid, because he was still too young. 21 And Zebee and Selmana said, "You get up and face us, for your power is like a man's." And Gedeon got up and killed Zebee and Selmana, and he took the crescents that were on the necks of their camels.

22 And they said, a man of Israel said to Gedeon, "Lord, rule us, both you and your son, for you were the one who delivered us out of the hand of Madiam." 23 And Gedeon said to them, "I will not rule, and my son will not rule, among you; the Lord will rule over you." 24 And Gedeon said to them, "I will request a request of you, and you, a man, give me an earring from your booty." 33 And it came about as Gedeon died that the sons of Israel turned aside and prostituted themselves after the Baalim and made for themselves Baal-Berith for a covenant that he should be for a god to them. 34 And the sons of Israel did not remember the Lord God, who had rescued them from the hand of all their enemies on every side, 35 and they did not do mercy with the house of Ierobaal Gedeon in return for all the goodness that he had done with Israel.

9 And Abimelech son of Ierobaal went to Sikima to his mother's brothers and spoke to them and to the whole clan of his mother's family, saying, 2 "Speak now in the hearing of the men of Sikima, 'Which is better, that seventy men, all sons of Ierobaal, rule over you or that one man be lord over you?' And remember that I am your flesh and your bone." 3 And his mother's brothers spoke all these words about him in the hearing of all the men of Sikima, and their heart inclined after Abimelech, for they said, "He is our brother." 4 And they gave him seventy pieces of silver out of the house of Baal-Berith, and Abimelech hired vain and alarming men with them, and they walked after him. 5 And he entered his father's house at Ephratha and killed his brothers, sons of Ierobaal, seventy men, on one stone, and Ioatham, the youngest son of Ierobaal, was left, for he hid. 6 And all the men of Sikima and all the house of Maallon came together, and they went and made Abimelech for king by the acorn-tree of placing a at Sikima.

7 And they told Ioatham, and he went and stood on the top of Mount Garizin and raised his voice and wept and said to them, "Listen to me, you men of Sikima, and may God listen to you. 8 Going out, the trees went out to anoint a king for themselves. And they said to the olive tree, 'Reign over us.' 9 And the olive tree said to them, 'Am I to neglect my fattiness, which God and men extol in me, and go to rule the trees?' 10 And the trees said to the fig tree, 'Come, reign over us.' 11 And the fig tree said to them, 'Am I to neglect my sweetness and my good produce and go to rule the trees?' 12 And the trees said to the vine, 'Come, reign over us.' 13 And the vine said to them, 'Am I to neglect my wine, the good cheer of men which comes from God, and go to rule the trees?' 14 And the trees said to the bramble, 21 And Ioathan fled and ran away and went on a journey and fled to Rara and lived there from before his brother Abimelech.

22 And Abimelech ruled over Israel three years.

23 And God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and between the men of Sikima, and the men of Sikima dealt treacherously in the house of Abimelech, that they might bring up the injustice against the seventy sons of Ierobaal to lay their blood upon their brother Abimelech, who killed them, and upon the men of Sikima, who strengthened his hands so that he killed his brothers. And the men of Sikima set ambushes against him on the mountain tops, and they would kidnap all who passed by them along that way, and it was reported to Abimelech.

26 And Gaal son of Abed and his brothers came into Sikima, and the men of Sikima had put confidence in him. And they went into the field and gathered grapes from their vineyards and were treading them and did dances. And they went into the house of their god and ate and drank and were cursing Abimelech.

28 And Gaal son of Abed said, “What is Abimelech, and who is the son of Sychem, that we shall be subject to him? Is he not a son of Ierobaal? And Zeboul his supervisor is his slave along with the men of Hemmor father of Sychem. And why is it that we shall serve him? And who would give this people in my hand? 22 And Abimelech ruled over Israel three years.

23 And God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and between the men of Sikima, and the men of Sikima dealt treacherously in the house of Abimelech, that they might bring up the injustice against the seventy sons of Ierobaal and to lay their blood upon their brother Abimelech, who killed them, and upon the men of Sikima, because they strengthened his hands to kill his brothers.

26 And Gaal son of Iobel and his brothers came, and they entered Sikima, and the men of Sikima put their hope in him. And they went out into the field and gathered grapes from their vineyards and trod them and made eellouim and brought them into the house of their god and ate and drank and cursed Abimelech.

28 And Gaal son of Iobel said, “Who is Abimelech, and who is the son of Sychem, that we shall be subject to him? Is he not a son of Ierobaal? And I will remove Abimelech, and I will say to him, ‘Multiply your force, and come out.’ ”

30 And Zeboul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal son of Abed, and he was furiously angry. 31 And he sent messengers to Abimelech with gifts, saying, "Look, Gaal son of Abed and his brothers have arrived in Sikima, and these here are besieging the city against you. 32 Now then, get up by night, you and the people that are with you, and lie in wait in the fields. 33 And it will happen early, as the sun rises, that you will rise early and reach out against the city, and see, he himself and the people that are with him will come out against you, and you will deal with him just as your hand devises."

34 And Abimelech and all the people with him got up by night and stationed four commands in ambush against Sikima. 35 And it happened early that Gaal son of Abed went out and stood at the entrance of the gate of the city, and Abimelech and the people with him rose from their ambushes. 36 And Gaal son of Abed saw them and said to Zeboul, "Look, people coming down from the mountain tops!" And Zeboul said to him, "You are seeing the shadows on the mountains as men." 37 And Gaal added still to speak, and he said, "Look, people coming down towards the sea from the area near the navel of the land, and one command is coming from the direction of Watchers' Oak." 38 And Zeboul said to him, "Where is your mouth now, which said, 'Who is Abimelech, that we shall be subject to him?' Look, are these not the people you made light of? Go out now and fight with them." 39 And Gaal went out from before the men of Sikima and fought against Abimelech. 40 And Abimelech chased him, and he fled from before him, and many fell wounded, up to the entrance of the city. 41 And Abimelech resided at Arima, and Zeboul drove out Gaal and his brothers so that they could not live on at Sikima.

42 And it came about on the following day that the people went out into the plain, and it was reported to Abimelech. 43 And he took along the people and divided them into three commands and lay in wait in it. And he looked, and see, people came out of the city, and he rose against them and struck them down. 44 And Abimelech and the commanders that were with him spread out and stood at the gate of the city, and the two commands rushed out at all who were in the fields and struck them down. 45 And Abimelech was fighting against the city all that day, and they took the city, and he killed the people that were in it, and he razed the city and sowed it with salt.

46 And all the men of the Tower of Sikima heard of it, and they entered the stronghold of the house of Baal-of-Covenant. 47 And Abimelech was told that all the men of the Tower of Sikima were gathered together. 48 And Abimelech went up to Mount Selmon, he and all the people that were with him. up and laid it on his shoulders. And he said to the people with him, “What have you seen me doing? Do quickly just as I have done.” 49And every one of them also cut down a bundle, took it up and followed after Abimelech, and they put it against the stronghold, and they burned the stronghold over them with fire, and all the men of the Tower of Sikima died, about a thousand men and women.

50 And Abimelech went to Thebes, and laid siege against it and quickly seized it. 51And there was a strong tower in the middle of the city, and all the men and women and all the leaders of the city fled there and shut it on themselves, and they went up to the top of the tower. 52And Abimelech came up to the tower, and they fought him, and Abimelech, came near to the door of the tower, to burn it with fire. 53And one woman threw a piece of a millstone on Abimelech’s head and crushed his skull. 54And immediately he called out to the young servant, the one who carried his equipment, and said to him, “Draw your dagger, and kill me, so they will not say, ‘A woman killed him.’ ” And his young servant thrust him through, and Abimelech died. 55And a man of Israel saw that Abimelech had died, and they departed, a man to his place.

56 And God turned away the evil of Abimelech, which he committed against his father in killing his seventy brothers, 57and God returned all the evil of the wickedness of Abimelech, which he committed against his father in killing his seventy brothers, 58and God returned all the wickedness of the men of Sychem on their head, and on them came the curse of Ioatham the son of Jeroboam.

his shoulders. And he said to the people with him, “What have you seen me doing do quickly as I have done.” 49And they—and indeed a man—also cut down every man a branch and followed after Abimelech, and they put it against the assembly-place, and they set the assembly-place alight over them with fire, and indeed all the men of the Tower of Sikima died, about a thousand men and women.

50 And Abimelech went from Baithel-Berith, and encamped against Thebes and took it. 51And there was a strong tower in the middle of the city, and all the men and women of the city fled there and shut it around them, and they went up to the top of the tower. 52And Abimelech came up to the tower, and they engaged in battle with him, and Abimelech came near to the door of the tower, to burn it with fire. 53And one woman threw a piece of an upper millstone on Abimelech’s head and cracked his skull. 54And quickly he called out to the young servant who carried his equipment and said to him, “Draw my sword, and kill me, so they will not say, ‘A woman killed him.’ ” And his young servant thrust him through, and he died. 55And a man of Israel saw that Abimelech had died, and they went, a man to his place. 56And God returned the wickedness of Abimelech, which he committed against his father in killing his seventy brothers, 57and God returned all the wickedness of the men of Sychem on their head, and on them came the curse of Ioatham son of Jeroboam.

10 And after Abimelech, Thola son of Phoua, son of his father’s brother, a man of Issachar, rose to deliver Israel, and he himself lived at Shalish in the hill country of Ephraim. 2And he judged Israel twenty-three years. And he died and was buried at Samaria.

3 And after him arose Iair the Galaadite, and he judged Israel twenty-two years. 4And there were born to him thirty-two sons who rode on thirty-two colts, and they had thirty-two cities, and he called them Iair’s Hamlets until this day, in the land of Galaad. 5And Iair died and was buried in Rammon.

6 And the sons of Israel added to do what was evil before the Lord and served the she-Baalim and the Astaroth and the gods of Sidon and the gods of Moab and the gods of the sons of Ammon and the gods of the allophyles. And they abandoned the Lord and were not subject to him. 7And the Lord was furiously angry with Israel, and he gave them up in the hand of allophyles and in the hand of the sons of Ammon, and they undermined and crushed the sons of Israel in that year for eighteen years, all the sons of Israel beyond the Jordan in the land of the Amorrite in Galaaditis. 8And the sons of Ammon crossed the Jordan, to wage war both against loudas and Beniamin and against the house of Ephraim, and the sons of Israel were greatly distressed.

And the sons of Israel cried to the Lord, saying, “We have sinned against you, because we have abandoned our God and have served the she-Baalim.” And the Lord said to the sons of Israel, “Did not the Egyptians and the Amorrites and the sons of Ammon and Moab and the amalġeṭe and the allophyles 12 and Sidonians and Madiam and Amelek oppress you? And you cried to me, and I delivered you out of their hand. And you have abandoned me and served other gods; therefore I will not add to deliver you. Go away, and cry aloud to the gods whom you have chosen for yourselves, and let them deliver you in the time of your distress.” And the sons of Israel said to the Lord, “We have sinned; do to us according to everything that is pleasing before you; only, Lord, deliver us in this day!” And they put away the foreign gods from their midst and served the Lord, and he was not well pleased with the people, and he was worried about the suffering of Israel.

And the sons of Ammon went up and encamped in Galaad, and the sons of Israel went out and encamped at Massepha. And the rulers of the people of Galaad said, a man to his fellow, “What man is it who will begin to fight against the sons of Ammon? He will also be for a head to all the inhabitants of Galaad.”

And lephthae the Galaadite was powerful in strength, and he himself was a son of a woman who was a prostitute, and she bore lephthae to Galaad. And Galaad’s wife bore him sons, and his wife’s sons came to maturity and drove lephthae away and said to him, “You shall not inherit anything in our father’s house, for you are the son of a woman who is a courtesan.” And lephthae fled from before his brothers and lived in the land of Tob. And petty men were coming together to lephthae and would go out together with him.

And it happened after days that the sons of Ammon made war with Israel. And it happened, when the sons of Ammon were making war with Israel, that the elders of Galaad went to take along lephthae in the land of Tob. And they said to lephthae, “Come, and you will be for a leader to us, and let us fight against the sons of Ammon.” And lephthae said to the elders of Galaad, “Was it not you that hated me and drove me out of my father’s house and sent me away from you? And why is it that you came to me when you were in trouble?” And the elders of Galaad said to lephthae, “It is not like that! We have come to you now, and you will go with us, and we will fight against the sons of Ammon, and you will be for a head to us, to all the inhabitants of Galaad.” And lephthae said to the elders of Galaad, “If you are returning me to fight against the sons of Ammon, then let the Lord give them over before me. I will be for a head to you.” And the elders of Galaad said to lephthae, “The Lord will be the one who hears between us, if we do not do so, according to your word.” And lephthae went with the elders of 10 And the sons of Israel called out to the Lord, saying, “We have sinned against you, because we have abandoned God and were subject to Baalim.” And the Lord said to the sons of Israel, “Was it not out of Egypt and from the Amorrite and from the sons of Ammon and from Phylístiim 12 and Sidonians and Amelek and Madiam who oppressed you, and you called out to me, and I delivered you out of their hand? And you have abandoned me and were subject to other gods; therefore I will not add to deliver you. Go away, and call out to the gods whom you have chosen for yourselves, and let them deliver you in the time of your distress.” And the sons of Israel said to the Lord, “We have sinned; do to us according to everything that is good in your sight; only, deliver us in this day!” And they shunned the foreign gods from their midst and were subject to the Lord only, and his soul was constricted over the suffering of Israel.

And the sons of Ammon went up and encamped in Galaad, and the sons of Israel gathered and encamped at a vantage point. And the people, the rulers of Galaad, said, a man to his fellow, “Who is the man who might begin to deploy against the sons of Ammon? He will also be for a ruler to all the inhabitants of Galaad.”

And lephthae the Galaadite was exalted in power, and he himself was the son of a woman who was a prostitute, who bore lephthae to Galaad. And Galaad’s wife bore him sons, and his wife’s sons came to maturity and drove lephthae away and said to him, “You shall not inherit anything in our father’s house, for you are the son of a woman who is a courtesan.” And lephthae fled from before his brothers and lived in the land of Tob. And worthless men gathered around lephthae and set out with him.

And it happened, when the sons of Ammon mustered with Israel, that the elders of Galaad went to take lephthae from the land of Tob. And they said to lephthae, “Come, and you will be for a chief to us, and let us deploy against the sons of Ammon.” And lephthae said to the elders of Galaad, “Was it not you that hated me and drove me out of my father’s house and sent me away from you? And for what reason did you come to me now when you are in need?” And the elders of Galaad said to lephthae, “It is for this reason that we have now turned to you, and you will go with us and deploy against the sons of Ammon, and you will be for a ruler to us, to all the inhabitants of Galaad.” And lephthae said to the elders of Galaad, “If you are returning me to deploy against the sons of Ammon, then let the Lord give them over before me, and I will be for a ruler to you.” And the elders of Galaad said to lephthae, “Let the Lord be hearing between us, if we do not do so, according to your word.” And lephthae went with the
And Israel resided at Kades. 18 And he journeyed and sent to the king of Moab, but he did not consent. And the king of Edom did not listen. And indeed he journeyed up out of Egypt, from Arnon up to labok and up to the Jordan, and now restore them in peace." 14 And the messengers returned to Iephthae, and lephthae sent messengers to the king of the sons of Ammon, saying: "This is what lephthae says: Israel did not take away the land of Moab or the land of the sons of Ammon in their journey up out of Egypt; rather, Israel went in the wilderness to the Red Sea and came to Kades. 17 And Israel sent out messengers to the king of Edom, saying, 'I will pass through your land, and the king of Edom did not listen. And indeed he sent to the king of Moab, but he did not consent. And Israel resided at Kades. 18 And he journeyed through in the wilderness and went around the land of Edom and the land of Moab and arrived at sunrise of the land of Moab, and they camped on the other side of Arnon. And they did not enter the territory of Moab, for Arnon was the boundary of Moab. 19 And Israel sent messengers to Seon, king of Hesebon, the Amorrite, and Israel said to him, 'I will pass through your land to my place.' 20 And Seon did not want Israel to cross his boundaries, and Seon gathered all his people together and encamped at Jassa and fought with Israel. 21 And the Lord, the God of Israel, gave Seon and all his people in the hand of Israel, and he struck them down, and Israel inherited all the land of the Amorrite who inhabited the land. 22 And he inherited all the territory of the Amorrite from Arnon and up to the labbok and from the wilderness and up to the Jordan. 23 And now the Lord, the God of Israel, has removed the Amorrite from before his people Israel. And shall you inherit them for yourself? 24 Should it not be that whatever your god Chamos has assigned you as an inheritance, that you will inherit? And everything that the Lord our God has assigned as an inheritance from before us, that we will inherit. 25 And now, are you any better than Balak son of Sepphor, king of Moab? Did he fight in a battle with Israel, or going to war, did he go to war with them? 26 In the house of Israel in Hesebon and in its daughters and in lazer and in its daughters and in all the cities that are along the Jordan, for three hundred years, why is it they did not recover them within that time? 27 And as for me, I have not sinned against you, and you are the one who does evil against me, to make war against me. May the Lord, who is judging, judge today between the sons of Israel and between the sons of Ammon." 28 And the king of the sons of Ammon did not want Israel to cross his boundary, and Seon gathered his entire people together, and they encamped at Jassa and fought with Israel. 21 And the Lord, the God of Israel, gave Seon and all his people in the hand of Israel, and he struck them down, and Israel inherited all the land of the Amorrite who inhabited that land, 22 from Arnon and up to the labbok and from the wilderness up to the Jordan. 23 And now the Lord, the God of Israel, has removed the Amorrite from before his people Israel. And shall you inherit them? 24 Should it not be that whatever your god Chamos will let you inherit, that you will inherit? And all those that the Lord our God has removed from before us, them we will inherit. 25 And now, are you in any good thing better, beyond Balak son of Sepphor, king of Moab? Did he fight in a battle with Israel, or going to war, did he go to war with them? 26 While he dwelt in Hesebon and in its territories and in the land of Aroer and in its territories and in all the cities that are along the Jordan, for three hundred years, and why did you not recover them within that time? 27 And now it is me. I have not sinned against you, and you are the one who does evil against me, to make war against me. May the Lord, who is judging, judge today between the sons of Israel and between the sons of Ammon." 28 And the king of the sons of Ammon did not pay heed, and he did not pay heed to the words of Iephthae that he sent him.

29 And a spirit of the Lord came upon Iephthae, and he passed through the land of Galaad and Manasses. And he passed through the vantage point of Galaad, and from the vantage point of Galaad to the other side of the sons of Ammon. 30 And Iephthae vowed a vow to the Lord and said, "If with a giving over, you will give over to me the sons of Ammon in my hand, 31 it shall also be that whoever comes out of the doors of my house to meet me, when I return in peace from the sons of Ammon, shall also be the Lord's, and I will offer him up as a whole burnt offering." 32 And Iephthae crossed over to the sons of Ammon to fight against them, and the Lord gave them up in his hand. 33 And he struck them down from Aroer until one comes to Semoth, twenty cities, as far as Abel-of-the-vineyards, a very great blow. And the sons of Ammon were humbled from before the sons of Israel.

34 And Iephthae came to Massepha, to his home, and see, his daughter was coming out to meet him with timbrels and with dancing. And she was his beloved only child, and he had no son or daughter except her. 35 And it came about, when he saw her that he tore his clothes and said, "Alas, my daughter! You have got in my way; you have become for a thorn in my eyes. But I opened my mouth to the Lord, and I cannot turn away." 36 And she said to him, "My father, if against me you have opened your mouth to the Lord, do to me as it came out of your mouth, now that the Lord has exacted vengeance for you from your enemies, from the sons of Ammon." 37 And she said to her father, "Also, do this word for me: Grant me two months, and I will go and descend on the mountains and bewail my virginity, both I and my companions." 38 And he said, "Go," and sent her away for two months. And she went, she and her companions, and she bewailed her virginity on the mountains. 39 And it came about after the end of two months that she returned to her father, and Iephthae fulfilled his vow that he had vowed. And she had never known a man. And it became for an ordinance in Israel: 40 from days to days the daughters of Israel would go together to lament the daughter of Iephthae of Galaad, four days in the year.

12 And the sons of Ephraim gathered together, and they came to Sephina and said to Iephthae, "Why is it that you went to fight against the sons of Ammon and did not call us to go with you? We will burn your house with fire!" 2 And Iephthae said to them, "I was a man facing opponents, I and my people, and the sons of Ammon were humbling me greatly. And I called out to you, and you did not deliver me from their hand. 3 And I saw that there was none to deliver, and I took my life in my hand and crossed over against the sons of Ammon, and Ammon did not listen to the words of Iephthae that he sent him.

29 And a spirit of the Lord came upon Iephthae, and he passed by Galaad and Manasses. And he passed by the vantage point of Galaad to the other side of the sons of Ammon. 30 And Iephthae vowed a vow to the Lord and said, "If giving over, you will give over to me the sons of Ammon in my hand, 31 it shall also be that he who comes out from the door of my house to meet me, when I return in peace from the sons of Ammon, shall also be the Lord's; I will offer him up as a whole burnt offering." 32 And Iephthae went on to the sons of Ammon to deploy against them, and the Lord gave them up in his hand. 33 And he struck them down from Aroer until coming as far as Arnon, twenty cities in number, and up to Ebelcharmin, a very great blow. And the sons of Ammon were put to shame from before the sons of Israel.

34 And Iephthae came to Massepha, to his home, and see, his daughter was coming out to meet him with timbrels and with dancing. And she was an only child; he had no other son or daughter. 35 And it came about, as he himself saw her that he tore his clothes and said, "Ah ah, my daughter! With confusion you have confused me, and it is you who were in my confusion. And it is me. Against you I opened my mouth to the Lord, and I cannot turn back." 36 But she said to him, "Father, you have opened your mouth to the Lord; do to me as it came out of your mouth when the Lord exacted vengeance for you from your enemies, from the sons of Ammon." 37 And she it was who said to her father, "Let my father indeed do this matter: Grant me two months, and I will go and descend on the mountains and bewail my virginity. It is me and my companions." 38 And he said, "Go," and sent her away for two months. And she went, she and her companions, and she bewailed her virginity on the mountains. 39 And it came about at the end of the two months that she returned to her father, and Iephthae fulfilled his vow that he had vowed. And she had never known a man. And it became for an ordinance in Israel: 40 from days to days the daughters of Israel would go to lament the daughter of Iephthae of Galaad, for four days in the year.

12 And a man of Ephraim called out, and they passed by to the northb and said to Iephthae, "Why did you pass by to deploy against the sons of Ammon and did not call us to go with you? We will burn your house with fire over you!" 2 And Iephthae said to them, "I was a fighting man, I and my people and the sons of Ammon, greatly. And I called to you, and you did not deliver me from their hand. 3 And I saw that you were not a savior, and I took my life in my hand and passed by against the sons of Ammon, and the Lord gave the Lord gave them up in my hand. And why have you come up to me this day, to fight against me?"

And Iephthae gathered all the men of Galaad and began to fight Ephraim, and the men of Galaad struck down Ephraim, because they said, "You are the fugitives from Ephraim, O Galaad in the midst of Ephraim and in the midst of Manasses!"
And the men of Galaad quickly seized the fords of the Jordan of Ephraim. And it came about that the fugitives of Ephraim said, "Let us pass over," and the men of Galaad said to them, "Are you not from Ephraim?" And they said, "We are not."
And they said to them, "Then say: Password," and they did not keep straight so as to say it like that. And they seized them and slew them at the fords of the Jordan. And forty-two thousand out of Ephraim fell at that time.

7 And Iephthae judged Israel six years. And Iephthae the Galaadite died and was buried in his city, Galaad.

8 After him Esebon of Baithleem judged Israel.
And there were born to him thirty sons and thirty daughters, who were sent out outside, and he brought in thirty women from outside for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.
And Esebon died and was buried at Bethleem.

11 And after him Ailom the Zaboulonite judged Israel, and he judged Israel ten years.
And Ailom the Zaboulonite died and was buried at Bethleem.

13 And after him Labdon son of Sellem the Phraathonite judged Israel.
And there were born to him forty sons and thirty sons of his sons, mounted on seventy colts, and he judged Israel eight years.
And Labdon son of Sellem the Phraathonite died and was buried at Phraathon in the land of Ephraim, in the hill country of Lanak.

13 And the sons of Israel added to do what was evil against the Lord, and the Lord gave them up in the hand of allophyles forty years.

2 And there was a man of Saraa, of the tribe of Dan, and his name was Manoe. And his wife was barren and was not bearing.
And an angel of the Lord appeared to the woman and said to her, "See now! You are barren and have not borne. And you shall become pregnant and bear a son.
And now, be careful, and do not drink wine and sikera, and do not eat anything unclean.
for see, you shall become pregnant and bear a son. And iron shall not come upon his head, for the boy shall be sanctified, a nazirite to God from the womb.
And he it is who shall begin to deliver Israel from the hand of allophyles."

6 And the woman came and said to her husband, saying, "A man of God came to me, and the seeing of him was like the seeing of an angel of God, most remarkable, and I asked where he came from, and he did not tell me his name.
And he said to me, 'See, you shall become pregnant and bear a son. And now, drink no wine and sikera, and do not keep straight so as to say it like that. And they seized him and slaughtered him at the fords of the Jordan. And forty-two thousand out of Ephraim fell at that time.

7 And Iephthae judged Israel sixty years. And Iephthae the Galaadite died and was buried in his city, Galaad.

8 And after him Abaisan from Baithleem judged Israel.
And he had thirty sons and thirty daughters, whom he sent out outside, and he brought in thirty daughters from outside for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.
And Abaisan died and was buried at Baithleem.

11 And after him Ailom the Zaboulonite judged Israel ten years.
And Ailom the Zaboulonite died and was buried at Ailom in the land of Zaboulon.

13 And after him Abdon son of Hellel the Phraathonite judged Israel.
And he had forty sons and thirty sons of sons, who rode on seventy colts, and he judged Israel eight years.
And Abdon son of Hellel the Phraathonite died and was buried at Phraathon in the land of Ephraim, in the hill country of Amalek.

13 And the sons of Israel added to do what was evil before the Lord, and the Lord gave them up in the hand of Phylistiim forty years.

2 And there was one man from Saraa, from a township of a clan of Dani, and his name was Manoe. And he had a barren wife, and she did not bear.

3 And an angel of the Lord appeared to the woman and said to her, "See, you are barren and have not borne. And you shall conceive a son.
And now, be careful, and do not drink wine and sikera, and do not eat anything unclean.
for see, you shall become pregnant and bear a son. And iron shall not come upon his head, for the boy shall be a nazir of God from the belly.
And he it is who shall begin to deliver Israel from the hand of Phylistiim."

6 And the woman went inside and said to him, "Then say Ear-of-Grain," and he did not keep straight so as to say it like that. And they seized him and slaughtered him at the fords of the Jordan. And forty-two thousand out of Ephraim fell at that time.

2 And there was one man from Saraa, from a township of a clan of Dani, and his name was Manoe. And he had a barren wife, and she did not bear.

3 And an angel of the Lord appeared to the woman and said to her, "See, you are barren and have not borne. And you shall conceive a son.
And now, be careful, and do not drink wine and sikera, and do not eat anything unclean.

and eat no uncleanness, for the boy shall be a nazirite of God from the womb to the day of his death.”

8 And Manoe entreated the Lord and said, “By me, Lord, do let the man of God whom you sent to us come to us and enlighten us about what we are to do for the boy who is being born.” 9 And God heard Manoe’s voice, and the angel of God came again to the woman as she sat in the field, but her husband Manoe was not with her. 10 And the woman hurried and ran off and told her husband, “See, the man who came to me the other day has appeared to me.” 11 And Manoe got up and went after his wife towards the man and said to him, “Are you the man who spoke to this woman?” And the angel said, “I am.” 12 And Manoe said, “Now then, when your word comes, what shall be the boy’s judgment, and what will his works be?” 13 And the angel of the Lord said to Manoe, “Let him keep away from all the things that I spoke to the woman about. 14 He shall not eat of anything that comes from the vine. And he is not to drink wine or strong drink, and he is not to eat any unclean thing. He is to observe everything that I commanded her.”

15 And Manoe said to the angel of the Lord, “Let us then constrain you, and we will prepare a kid of goats before you.” 16 And the angel of the Lord said to Manoe, “If you constrain me, I will not eat of your loaves, and if you make a whole burnt offering, you shall offer it to the Lord.” (For Manoe did not know that he was an angel of the Lord.) 17 And Manoe said to the angel of the Lord, “What is your name so that we may honor you when your word comes?” 18 And the angel of the Lord said to him, “Why do you ask this, my name? Even by itself it is amazing.”

19 And Manoe took the kid of goats and the sacrifice and offered it on the rock to the Lord, to the Lord who works wonders, and Manoe and his wife were looking on. 20 And it came about, when the flame went up above the altar toward the sky, that the angel of the Lord ascended in the flame, and Manoe and his wife were looking on, and they fell on their face to the ground. 21 And the angel of the Lord did not add still to appear to Manoe and to his wife. Then Manoe realized that it was an angel of the Lord. 22 And Manoe said to his wife, “We shall die by death, for we have seen a god.” 23 And his wife said to him, “If the Lord had desired to kill us, he would not have accepted a whole burnt offering and a sacrifice from our hands, and he would not have enlightened us about all these things, and he would not have made them audible to us.”

24 And the woman bore a son and called his name Sampson. And the Lord blessed him and the boy grew. 25 And a spirit of the Lord began to ac-wine or strong drink, and eat no unclean thing, for the boy shall be holy to God from the womb to the day of his death.”

8 And Manoe prayed to the Lord and said, “By me, Lord Adonai, about the man of God whom you sent, do let him come to us again, and let him instruct us as to what we are to do for the boy who is being born.” 9 And God listened to Manoe’s voice, and the angel of God again came to the woman, and she was sitting in a field, and her husband Manoe was not with her. 10 And the woman hurried and ran and told her husband, “See, the man who came to me in a day has appeared to me.” 11 And Manoe got up and went after his wife and came to the man and said to him, “Are you the man who spoke to this woman?” And the angel said, “I am.” 12 And Manoe said, “Now your word will come: what is to be the boy’s decision, and what will he do?” 13 And the angel of the Lord said to Manoe, “He will keep away from all the things that I have spoken to the woman about. 14 He shall not eat of anything that comes from the vine. And he is not to drink wine or sikeraa, strong drink, and he is not to eat any unclean thing. He shall observe everything that I commanded her.”

15 And Manoe said to the angel of the Lord, “Let us detain you here, and let us prepare a kid of goats before you.” 16 And the angel of the Lord said to Manoe, “If you detain me, I will not eat any of your loaves, and if you make a whole burnt offering, you shall offer it to the Lord.” (For Manoe did not know that he was a very angel of the Lord.) 17 And Manoe said to the angel of the Lord, “What is your name? For may your word come, and we will honor you.” 18 And the angel of the Lord said to him, “To what end do you ask this, my name? Even by itself it is amazing.”

19 And Manoe took the kid of goats and the sacrifice and offered it on the rock to the Lord. And he separated to act, and Manoe and his wife were watching. 20 And it came about, when the flame went up above the altar to the sky, that the angel of the Lord ascended in the flame of the altar, and Manoe and his wife were watching, and they fell on their face to the ground. 21 And the angel of the Lord did not add still to appear to Manoe and to his wife. Then Manoe realized that he was an angel of the Lord. 22 And Manoe said to his wife, “We shall die by death, for we saw a god.” 23 And his wife said to him, “If the Lord had wanted to kill us, he would not have taken a whole burnt offering and a sacrifice from our hand, and he would not have shown us all these things, and he would not have caused us to hear them when it was the right time.”

24 And the woman bore a son and called his name Sampson. And the boy came to maturity and the Lord blessed him. 25 And a spirit of the Lord company him in the camp of Dan between Saraa and between Eshhaol.

14 And Sampson went down to Thamnatha, and at Thamnatha he saw a woman of the daughters of the allophyles, and she was pleasing before him. 2 And he came up and told his father and his mother and said, “I have seen a woman at Thamnatha of the daughters of the allophyles, and now, get her for me for a wife.” 3 And his father and his mother said to him, “Is there not a woman of your brothers’ daughters and among all my people, that you will go to take a wife from the uncircumcised allophyles?” And Sampson said to his father, “Get this one for me, because she was pleasing in my sight.” 4 And his father and his mother did not know that it was from the Lord, for he himself was seeking requital from the allophyles. And at that time allophyles had dominion over the sons of Israel.

5 And Sampson went down, and his father and his mother, to Thamnatha. And he turned aside to a vineyard of Thamnatha, and see, a whelp of lions roaring to meet him. 6 And a spirit of the Lord made straight for him, and he tore it apart as one would tear apart a kid of goats, and there was nothing in his hand. And he did not tell his father or mother what he had done. 7 And they went down and talked with the woman, and she was made straight in Sampson’s sight. 8 And after days he returned to marry her, and he turned aside to see the carcass of the lion, and see, a swarm of bees in the mouth of the lion, and there was honey. 9 And he took it out into his mouth and went on, going and eating. And he came to his father and to his mother, and he gave to them, and they ate. And he did not tell them that he had taken the honey from the condition of the lion.

10 And his father went down to the woman, and Sampson held a drinking party there for seven days, because the young men would do thus. 11 And it came about, when they were afraid of him, that they appointed thirty companions for him, and they were with him. 12 And Sampson said to them, “I will set you a problem, and if you tell me the problem within the seven days of the drinking party, I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty robes. 13 And if you cannot tell me, you shall also give me thirty linen garments and thirty robes used as outer garments.” And they said to him, “Set your problem, and we will hear it.” 14 And he said to them, “Out of the eater came forth food, and out of a strong one came forth something sweet.”

And for three days they could not tell the problem.

15 And it came about in the fourth day that they said to Sampson’s wife, “Do deceive your husband, and let him tell you the problem, or we will burn you and your father’s house with fire. Did

14 And Sampson went down to Thamnatha, and in Thamnatha he saw a woman of the daughters of the allophyles. 2 And he came up and told his father and his mother and said, “I have seen a woman at Thamnatha of the daughters of Phystiiim, and now, get her for me for a wife.” 3 And his father and his mother said to him, “Are there no daughters of your brothers and a woman out of all my people, that you will go to take a wife from the uncircumcised allophyles?” And Sampson said to his father, “Get this one for me, because she is straightforward in my sight.” 4 And his father and his mother did not know that it was from the Lord, for he himself was seeking vengeance from the allophyles. And at that time the allophyles were dominant in Israel.

5 And Sampson went down, and his father and his mother, to Thamnatha. And he came as far as the vineyard of Thamnatha, and see, a whelp of a lion roaring to meet him. 6 And a spirit of the Lord leapt upon him, and he crushed it as he would crush a kid, and there was nothing in his hands. And he did not tell his father or his mother what he had done. 7 And they went down and talked with the woman, and she was made straight in Sampson’s sight. 8 And after days he returned to marry her, and he turned aside to see the carcass of the lion, and see, a gathering of bees in the mouth of the lion, and honey. 9 And he took it out into his hands and was going on, going and eating. And he came to his father and his mother, and he gave to them, and they ate. And he did not tell them that he had taken the honey from the mouth of the lion.

10 And his father went down to the woman, and Sampson held a drinking party there for seven days, because the young men do thus. 11 And it came about, when they saw him, that they took thirty invitees, and they were with him. 12 And Sampson said to them, “I am setting you a problem. If telling you tell it within the seven days of the drinking party and find it out, I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty robes used as outer garments.” And they said to him, “Set the problem, and we will hear it.”

13 And he said to them, “What edible thing came out of the eater, and from the strong a sweet thing?”

And for three days they could not tell the problem.

you invite us to be beggars?” 16 And Sampson’s wife wept before him and said to him, “You hate me, and you do not love me, for the problem which you set for the sons of my people, even to me you have not told it.” And Sampson said to her, “Look, I have not told it to my father or my mother, and I am going to tell you!” 17 And she wept before him during the seven days, them on which there was a party, and it came about in the seventh day that he told her, because she exasperated him. And she told the sons of her people. 18 And the men of the city said to him in the seventh day before the sun went down,

“What is sweeter than honey?
And what is stronger than a lion?”

And Sampson said to them,

“If you had not tamed my heifer, you would not have found my problem.”

19 And a spirit of the Lord made straight for him, and he went down to Ascalon. And from there he struck down thirty men and took their robes and gave them to those who had told the problem. And the allophyles said, “Who has done these things?” And he turned tail to tail and put one torch between the two tails, in the middle. 5 And he set fire to the sheaf up to what stood and up to vineyard and olive trees. 6 And the allophyles said, “Who has done these things?” And they said, “Sampson, the son-in-law of the Thammathite, because he took his wife and gave her to his companion.” And the allophyles came up and burned her and her father with fire. 7 And Sampson said to them, “If you act thus, I will not be content unless I take my revenge from each and every one of you.” 8 And he struck them on the thigh, a great blow, and he went down and sat in a hole in the cave of Etam.

9 And the allophyles came up and encamped against Ioudas, and they were thrown back at Leili. 10 And they said to them, every man of Ioudas, “Why have you come up against us?” And the allophyles said, “To bind Sampson and to do you invited us to force us out?” 16 And Sampson’s wife wept before him and said, “But you hate me, and you do not love me, for the problem which you set for the sons of my people you have not told to me.” And Sampson said to her, “If I have not told it to my father or my mother, should I tell you?” 17 And she wept before him during the seven days on which they held the party, and it came about in the seventh day that he told her, because she exasperated him. And she told the sons of her people. 18 And the men of the city said to him in the seventh day before the sun rose,

“What is sweeter than honey?
And what is stronger than a lion?”

And Sampson said to them,

“If you had not ploughed with my heifer, you would not have known my problem.”

19 And a spirit of the Lord leapt upon him, and he went down to Ascalon. And he struck down thirty men of them and took their clothes and gave the robes to those who had told the problem. And Sampson was furiously angry, and he went back to his father’s house. 20 And Sampson’s wife lived with his bridal escort, who was his companion.

15 And it came about after days, during the days of the wheat harvest, that Sampson went to visit his wife, bringing along a kid of goats. And he said, “I will go in to my wife, into the bedroom.” And her father would not allow him to go in to her. 2 And her father said, “Saying I said that hating you hated her, and I gave her to your companion. See, is not her younger sister better than she? Do let her be to you in her stead.” 3 And Sampson said to him, “I am without blame from the allophyles this once, for the fact that I do mischief with you.” 4 And Sampson went and caught three hundred foxes and took torches, and he bound tail to tail and put one torch between the two tails, in the middle. 5 And he set fire to the torches, and he sent the foxes off among the allophyles’ ears of grain, and they were burned from threshing-floor and up to standing ears of grain and up to vineyard and olive trees. 6 And the allophyles said, “Who has done these things?” And they said, “Sampson, the son-in-law of the Thammathite, because he took his wife and gave her to his companion.” And the allophyles came up and burned her and her father with fire. 7 And Sampson said to them, “If you treat her thus, because I will surely take revenge among you and finally cease.” 8 And he struck them shank upon thigh, a great blow, and he went down and sat in a hole in the rock of Etam.

9 And the allophyles came up and encamped against Ioudas, and they were thrown back at Leili. 10 And they said, a man of Ioudas, “To what end have you come up against us?” And the allophyles said, “We have come up to bind Sampson and to
And three thousand men from Louts went down into a hole in the rock of Etam, and they said to Sampson, “Do you not know that the Allophyles are our lords? And why have you done this to us?” And Sampson said to them, “As they did to me, so I have done to them.”

And they said to him, “We have come down to bind you and to give you into the hands of the Allophyles.” And Sampson said to them, “Swear to me not to kill me yourselves and give me up to them, lest you yourselves come against me.”

And they swore to him, saying, “No, but we will bind you with a binding and give you into their hands, but we will not put you to death by death.” And they bound him with two new cords and led him up from the rock.

14 And he came by himself as far as Jawbone, and the Allophyles shouted in triumph to meet him and ran to meet with him, and a spirit of the Lord leapt upon him, and the cords that were on his arms became like flax when it smells fire, and the bonds were loosed from his arms. 15 And he found a jawbone of a donkey cast aside and stretched out his hand and took it, and with it he struck down a thousand men. 16 And Sampson said, “I have wiped them out, wiping them out with a donkey’s jawbone, for with a donkey’s jawbone I have struck down a thousand men.”

17 And it came about, when he had finished speaking, that he threw the jawbone from his hand, and he called that place Jawbone’s Slaying.

18 And he was very thirsty, and he called out to the Lord and said, “You have granted this great deliverance by the hand of your slave. And now, shall I die of thirst and fall in the hand of the uncircumcised?” 19 And God opened the wound of the jawbone, and waters came from it. And he drank, and his spirit returned in him, and he revived. Therefore its name was called Spring-Summoned-by-Jawbone, as it remains to this day. 20 And he judged Israel in the days of the Allophyles twenty years.

16 And Sampson went from there to Gaza, and there he saw a woman, a prostitute, and went in to her. 2 And the Gazites were told, saying, “Sampson has come here.” And they circled around and lay in wait for him all night by the city gate. And they kept quiet all night, saying, “Let us wait until the light, when it is early, and let us kill him.”

3 And Sampson lay until midnight. And about midnight he rose up and took hold of the doors of the city gate and the two posts and pulled them up, bar and all, and put them on his shoulder and carried them to the top of the mountain that faces the front of Chebron and set them down there.

4 And it came about after this that he fell in love with a woman by the Wadi Sorech, and her name was Dalila. And the satraps of the Allophyles came up to them. 5 As they did to me, so I have done to them.

6 And they said to him, “We have come down to bind you so that we may give you in the hand of the Allophyles.” And Sampson said to them, “Swear to me, lest you yourselves gather against me.”

7 And they said to him, saying, “No, except that we will bind you with a binding and give you in their hand, and we will not put you to death by death.” And they bound him with two new cords and brought him up from that rock.

8 And they came as far as Jawbone, and the Allophyles shouted in triumph and ran to meet him, and a spirit of the Lord leapt upon him, and the cords that were on his arms became like flax which was burnt by fire, and his bonds melted from his hands. 9 And he found a jawbone of a donkey cast aside and stretched out his hand and took it, and with it he struck down a thousand men. 10 And Sampson said,

“I have wiped them out, wiping them out with a donkey’s jawbone, for with a donkey’s jawbone I have struck down a thousand men.”

11 And it came about, when he had ceased speaking, that he threw the jawbone from his hand, and he called that place Jawbone’s Slaying.

12 And he was very thirsty and wept to the Lord and said, “You have approved this great deliverance by the hand of your slave. And now, shall I die of thirst and fall in the hand of the uncircumcised?”

13 And God broke open the pit in the hand of the Allophyles. And Sampson said to them, “Swear to me, lest you yourselves gather against me.”

14 And they swore to him, saying, “No, except that we will bind you with a binding and give you in their hand, and we will not put you to death by death.” And they bound him with two new cords and brought him up from that rock.

JUDGES 15-16
Judges A

Phylies came up to her and said to her, “Deceive him, and see in what his great strength lies, and how we may be strong against him and bind him, so as to subdue him, and we for our part will give you, a man, eleven hundred pieces of silver.” And Dalila said to Sampson, “Tell me in what your great strength lies and by what means you may be bound so that you could be subdued.” And Sampson said to her, “If they bind me with seven fresh bowstrings that have not been left abandoned, I shall both become weak and be like one of men.” And the satraps of the phylies brought her seven fresh bowstrings that had not been left abandoned, and she bound him with them. And his ambush was sitting in the storeroom, and she said to him, “Phylies are upon you, Sampson!” And he broke the bowstrings, as a strand shaken off snaps when it smells fire. And his strength was not known.

And Dalila said to Sampson, “Look, you have deceived me and told me lies; now then do tell me how you may be bound.” And he said to her, “If they bind me with a binding, with seven new cords with which no work has been done, I shall both become weak and be like one of men.” And Dalila took new cords for him and bound him with them, and said to him, “The phylies are upon you, Sampson!” (And the ambush was sitting in the storeroom.) And he snapped the cords off his arms like a thread.

And Dalila said to Sampson, “Until now you have deceived me and told me lies; do tell me how you may be bound.” And he said to her, “If you weave the seven plaits of my head with the warp and hammer them into the wall with the peg, I shall also become weak, like one of men.” And Dalila lulled him to sleep, and she made the seven locks of his head the warp with the stretching out and hammered them into the wall with the pegs. And she said to him, “The phylies are upon you, Sampson!” But he awoke from his sleep and pulled away the pegs along with the web from the wall and the warp. And his strength was not known.

And Dalila said to him, “How can you say, ‘I love you,’ and your heart is not with me? This is the third time you have deceived me and have not told me in what your great strength lies.” And it came about, when she had overpowered him with her words for the entire night and had pestered him, that he was tired to death. And he told her everything from his heart and said to her, “A razor has not come upon my head, for I have been a holy one of God from my mother’s belly. And if I am shaved, my strength will leave me, and I will become weak and be as all men are.” And Dalila realized that he had told her everything from his heart. And she sent and called all the satraps of the phylies, saying, “Come up this once, for he has told his whole heart to me.”

Judges B

Phylies came up to her and said to her, “Deceive him, and see in what his great strength lies, and how we may be strong for him and bind him, so as to subdue him, and we for our part will give you, a man, eleven hundred pieces of silver.” And Dalila said to Sampson, “Do tell me in what your great strength lies and by what means you may be bound so that you could be subdued.” And Sampson said to her, “If they bind me with seven fresh bowstrings that have not been spoiled, I shall both become weak and be like one of men.” And the rulers of the phylies brought her seven fresh bowstrings that had not been spoiled, and she bound him with them. And the ambush came out of the storeroom, and she said to him, “Phylies are upon you, Sampson!” And he tore apart the bowstrings, as one might tear apart a twist of flax when it smells the fire. And his strength was not known.

And Dalila said to Sampson, “Look, you have misled me and told me lies; now then tell me how you may be bound.” And he said to her, “If when they tie me up they bind me with seven new cords, them with which no work has been done, I shall both become weak and be like one of men.” And Dalila took new cords and bound him with them, and the ambushes came out of the storeroom. And she said, “Phylies are upon you, Sampson!” And he snapped them off his arms like a thread.

And Dalila said to Sampson, “Look, you have misled me and told me lies; do tell me how you may be bound.” And he said to her, “If you weave the seven plaits of my head with the warp and hammer them into the wall with the peg, I shall also become weak, like one of men.” And it came about when he went to sleep that Dalida took the seven plaits of his head and wove them in the warp and fixed them in the wall with the peg. And she said, “Phylies are upon you, Sampson!” And he awoke from his sleep and lifted the peg of the warp out from the wall.

And Dalila said to him, “How can you say, ‘I love you,’ and your heart is not with me? This is the third time you have misled me and have not told me in what your great strength lies.” And it came about, when she had overpowered him with her words all the days and had hemmed him in, that he was tired to the point of dying. And he told her all his heart and said to her, “Iron has not come upon my head, for I have been a holy one of God from my mother’s belly. If then I am shaved, my strength will leave me, and I will become weak and be like all men.”

And Dalila realized that he had told her all his heart. And she sent and called the rulers of the phylies, saying, “Come up just this once more, for he has told his whole heart to me.” And the
And all the satraps of the allophyles came up to her and brought the money in their hands. And she lulled him to sleep between her knees, and she called a barber, and he shaved off the seven locks of his head. And he began to weaken, and his strength left him. And Dalila said to him, “The allophyles are upon you, Sampson!” And he awoke from his sleep and said, “I will go out and do as I have always done and shake myself free.” And he himself did not know that the Lord had left him. And the allophyles seized him and gouged out his eyes. And they led him down to Gaza and bound him with bronze shackles, and he was grinding grain in the prison-house. And the hair of his head began to grow again after it had been shaved.

And the satraps of the allophyles gathered to sacrifice a great sacrifice to their god Dagon and to rejoice. And they said, “Our god has delivered Sampson our enemy in our hand.” And the people saw him and praised their gods. And they said, “Our god has delivered our enemy in our hand, yes, the ravager of our country, who multiplied our wounded.” And it came about, when their heart was merry, that they said, “Call Sampson from the prison-house, and let him perform before us.” And they called Sampson out of the prison-house and were making fun of him. And they placed him between the two pillars, and Sampson said to the lad who held him by the hand, “Do let me rest, and make me feel the pillars, those on which the house rests, and I will lean against them.” Now the boy did so. Now the house was full of men and women, and all the satraps of the allophyles were there, and on top of the house there were about three thousand men and women, watching Sampson being made fun of.

And Sampson called out to the Lord and said, “Lord, Lord, remember me, and do strength left him. And Dalila said, “Allophyles are upon you, Sampson!” and he awoke from his sleep and said, “I will go out as once and once and will be shaken free.” And he himself did not know that the Lord had departed from upon him. And the allophyles overpowered him and put out his eyes. And they brought him down to Gaza and shackled him with bronze shackles, and he was grinding grain in the house of incarceration. And hair on his head began to grow as he had shaved it.

And the rulers of the allophyles came up to her and brought up the money in their hands. And Dalila lulled Sampson to sleep on her knees, and she called a man, and he shaved off the seven plaits of his head, and it began to weaken him, and his strength left him. And Dalila said, “Allophyles are upon you, Sampson!” and he awoke from his sleep and said, “I will go out as once and once and will be shaken free.” And he himself did not know that the Lord had departed from upon him. And the allophyles overpowered him and put out his eyes. And they brought him down to Gaza and shackled him with bronze shackles, and he was grinding grain in the house of incarceration. And he leaned against the two pillars, those on which the house rested, and I will lean against them.” Now the boy did so. Now the house was full of men and women, and all the satraps of the allophyles were there, and on top of the house there were about seven hundred men and women, those who were watching Sampson’s performances.

And Sampson wept to the Lord and said, “Adonaie, Lord, do now remember me, and strengthen me just this once more, O God, and I will carry out this one act of requital against the allophyles for my two eyes.” And Sampson embraced the two pillars, those on which the house rested, and he leaned against them, one in his right hand and one in his left hand. And Sampson said, “Let my soul die with the allophyles.” And he leaned with strength, and the house fell on the satraps and on all the people who were in it. And the dead whom Sampson put to death at his death were more numerous, above those he had put to death during his life. And his brothers and all his father’s house came down and took him and went up and buried him between Saraa and between Esthaol in the tomb of his father Manoe. And he himself judged Israel twenty years.

And there was a man from the hill country of Ephraim, and his name was Michaias. And he said to his mother, “Eleven hundred pieces of silver, those that were taken for you—and you administered an oath and spoke in my hearing—see, the silver is in my possession; I took it.” And his

And he returned the silver to his mother, and his mother took two hundred pieces of the silver and gave it to the smelter, and he made into a carved object\textsuperscript{a} and a cast object\textsuperscript{a}, and it came to be in the house of Micha. As for the man Micha, he had a house of god, and he made ephod and tharphin\textsuperscript{b} and filled the hand of one of his sons, and he became for a priest to him. 8 And he came to the hill country of Ephraim as far as the house of Micha, and they rested there. Themselves came to the hill country of Ephraim, as far as the house of Micha, and they lodged there. Themselves came to the hill country of Ephraim, as far as the house of Micha, and they rested there. 6 And the priest said to them, “Go in peace. Your journey, that upon which you are going, is before the Lord.”

7 And the five men went on, and they came to Laisa, and they observed the people who were living in it, settled in hope, according to the decision of the Sidonians, resting in hope and unable to speak a word, for they were far from Sidon and had no word with Syria. 8 And the five men came to their brothers at Saraa and Esthaol and their brothers were saying to them, “Why are you sitting down?”

9 And they said, “Get up, and let us go up against them. For we have entered and journeyed about in the land as far as Laisa, and we saw the people who live in it in hope, according to the judgment of the Sidonians: and they were far away, away from Sidon, and they had no word with Syria. But get up, and let us go up against them! For we have found the land, and see, it is very good. And will you keep silent? Do not hesitate to go, to come and inherit the land. 10 Whenever you enter, you will come to a trusting people, and the land is broad—for God has delivered it in your hand—a place, there where is no lack of every matter, everything on earth.”

11 And six hundred men of a clan of Dan, armed with military implements, set out from Saraa and Esthaol and went up and encamped at Kariathiarim in Lodus. On this account that place is called Dan’s Camp to this day; see, it is behind Kariathiarim. 13 From there they passed on and came as far as the hill country of Ephraim and came as far as the house of Micha.

14 And the five men who were going to spy out the land answered and said to their brothers, “Do you know that in these buildings there are ephod and theraphin, a carved object and a cast object? So now consider what you will do.” 15 And they turned in that direction and entered the house of the lad, the Leuite, at the home of Micha, and greeted him. 16 And the six hundred men who were armed with military implements were standing like pillars by the door at the gateway, those of the sons of Dan. 17 And the five men who were going to spy out the land went up. They came there and took the carved object, the ephod, the theraphin and the cast object. And the priest was standing like a pillar by the door at the gateway, and the six hundred men armed with military implements, 18 And they went into Micha’s house and took the carved object, the ephod, the theraphin and the cast object, and the priest said to them, “What are you doing?” 19 And they said to him, “Keep quiet! Put your hand over your mouth, and come here with us, and you will be to us for a father and for a priest. Is it better that you should be priest to the house of one man than that you should become priest to a tribe and clan in Israel?” 20 And the priest’s heart was glad. And he took the ephod, the theraphin, a carved object, the ephod, the theraphin and the cast object, and the priest said to them, “What are you doing?” 19 And they said to him, “Keep quiet! Put your hand over your mouth, and come here with us, and you will be to us for a father and for a priest. 11 And six hundred men, equipped with battle implements, set out from there, from the divisions of Dan, from Saraa and from Esthaol, and went up and encamped at Kariathiarim in Lodus. On this account it is called Dan’s Camp in that place to this day; see, it is behind Kariathiarim. 13 And they passed on from there to the hill country of Ephraim and came as far as the house of Michaiah.

14 And the five men who had gone to spy out the land of Laisa answered and said to their brothers, “Do you know that there are in this house ephod and theraphin, a carved object and a cast object? So now consider what you will do.” 15 And they turned in that direction and entered the house of the young man, the Leuite, the home of Michaiah, and asked him regarding peace. 16 And the six hundred men who were equipped with their battle implements were standing by the doors at the gateway, those of the sons of Dan. 17 And the five men who had gone to spy out the land went up. 18 And they went in there, into Michaiah’s house (and the priest was standing) and took the carved object, the ephod, the theraphin and the cast object, and the priest said to them, “What are you doing?” 19 And they said to him, “Keep quiet! Put your hand over your mouth, and come here with us, and become for a father and for a priest to us. Is it good that you should be priest to the house of one man or that you should become priest to a tribe and a house for a division in Israel?” 20 And the priest’s heart was glad. And he took the ephod, the theraphin, a carved object, the ephod, the theraphin and the cast object.

A. G. B. 9 And they said, “Get up, and let us go up against them. For we saw the land, and see, it is very good. And will you keep silent? Do not hesitate to go and enter in to inherit the land. 10 And whenever you go, you will enter in to a people in hope, and the land is wide—for God has given it in your hand—a place, there where is no lack of every matter, everything on earth.”

And why do you say this to me, 'Why do you cry out like this?" 25 And the sons of Dan said to him, "Your voice had better not be heard with us or else men who are afflicted in soul will attack you, and you will add your life and the lives of your household." 26 And the sons of Dan went on their way. And Michaiah saw that they were too strong for him, and he turned away and went back to his home. 27 And they took everything Michaiah had made and the priest who belonged to him and came as far as Lais, to a people quiet and trusting, and they struck them down with the edge of the sword and burned down the city. 28 And there was none to deliver, because it was far from Sidonians and they had no word with people. And it was in a valley that belongs to the house of Roob. And they built the city and lived in it. 29 And they called the name of the city Dan, after the name of their ancestor, who was born to Israel; and the city formerly had the name Lais. 30 And the sons of Dan set up Michaiah's carved object\textsuperscript{a} for themselves, and Jonathan son of Gersom son of Moyse, he and his sons were priests for the tribe of Dan until the day of the removal from the land. 31 And they appointed for themselves Michaiah's carved object\textsuperscript{a} that he had made, all the days that the house of God was at Selo.

19 And it came about in those days that there was no king in Israel. And it came about that a man, a Leuite, was living as a resident alien in the hills of the hill country of Ephraim. And the man took to himself a wife, a concubine from Bethlehem of loudas. 2 And his concubine became angry with him, and she went away from him to her father's house at Bethleem of loudas and was there for four months. 3 And her husband got up and set out after her, to speak to her heart, to reconcile her to himself and bring her back to him. And his young servant was with him, and a team of draft animals. And he came as far as her father's house, and the young woman's father saw him and was there to meet him. 4 And his father-in-law, the young woman's father, brought him inside and sat with him three days, and they ate and drank and slept there. 5 And it came about on the fourth day that they rose early in the morning, and he got up

And both of them ate and drank. 9 And the man sank near Gabaa, which belongs to Beniamin. 10 And the man did not want to lodge, and he got up and departed, and they came as far as opposite lebous (this is Ierousalem). And with him was a team of loaded draft animals, and his concubine was with him. 11 While they were still near lebous (and the day was far spent), then the young servant said to his master, “Come now, and let us turn aside to this city of the lebousite and lodge in it.”

And his master said to him, “I will not turn aside into a foreigner’s city, which is not of the sons of Israel, and we will continue on as far as Gaba.”

And he said to his young servant, “Come, and let us enter one of the places and lodge in Gabaa or in Rama.” And they passed by and went on, for the sun sank near Gabaa, which belongs to Benjamin.

And they turned aside there, to go in to stay in the square of the city, and there was no man who would take them into the house to stay.

16 And at evening, see, an old man came in from his work, from the field. And the man was from the hill country of Ephraim, and he himself was a resident alien in Gabaa (and the men of the place were sons of Benjamin). 17 And when he looked up with his eyes, he saw the man, the wayfarer in the square of the city, and the old man said, “Where are you going, and where do you come from?” 18 And he said to him, “We are passing through from Bethlehem of Ioudas as far as the thighs of the hill country of Ephraim. And both of them ate and drank. 9 And the man got up to leave, he and his concubine and his young servant, and his father-in-law, the young woman’s father, said to him, “Look now, the day has declined towards evening. And just as the dawn began to break, they sent her all through the night until the early morning. And as the dawn began to break, they sent her away. And towards dawn, the woman came and fell down by the door at the gateway to the man’s house, there where her master was, until it was light.

And her master got up early and opened the doors of the house and went out to go on his way, and see, the woman, his concubine, lying by the door, and her hands were in the entrance. And he said to her, “Get up, and let’s go.” And she did not answer him, but she had died. And he took her up onto the draft animal, and the man got up and departed for his place. And he entered his house and took his dagger and took hold of his concubine and dismembered her into twelve pieces, limb by limb, and sent them to all the tribes of Israel. And it came about that everyone who saw would say, “Neither has it happened nor has it appeared thus from the day of the coming up of the sons of Israel from Egypt until this day. And all the sons of Israel came out, from Dan and up to Bersabee, and the land of Galaad, and all the congregation assembled like one man to the Lord at Massepha. And the region of all the people stood, all the tribes of Israel in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand men, foot-soldiers drawing a sword. And the sons of Benjamin heard that the sons of Israel had gone up to the Lord at Massepha. After this man has come into my house, do not do this madness.” And the men did not want to listen to him. And the sons of Israel went up and wept in the place, there where they had drawn up in the field against Gabaa: we will go up against it by lot. And we will take ten men for a hundred, and a hundred for a thousand, and a thousand for ten thousand, to bring provisions for the people, those who are going in to carry out against Gabaa of Benjamin according to all the madness that they have committed in Israel. And every man of Israel gathered from their cities, coming as one man.

And the tribes of Israel sent out men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, “What evil is this that has happened among you? Now then, hand over the godless men in Gabaa, the sons of Benjamin, and we will put them to death and remove evil from Israel.” And the sons of Benjamin would not listen to the voice of their brothers, the sons of Israel. And the sons of Benjamin came together out of their cities, coming as one man. In that day the sons of Benjamin were reviewed, twenty-five thousand men drawing a sword. All of these were men of battle.

And the sons of Israel arose in the morning and encamped against Gabaa: we will go up against it by lot. And we will take ten men for a hundred, and a hundred for a thousand, and a thousand for ten thousand, to bring provisions for the people, those who are going in to carry out against Gabaa of Benjamin according to all the madness that they have committed in Israel.” And every man of Israel gathered from their cities, coming as one man.

And the tribes of Israel sent out men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, “What wickedness is this that has happened among you? Now then, hand over the godless men, sons of transgressors, those in Gabaa, and we will put them to death and purge wickedness from Israel.” And the sons of Benjamin did not see fit to listen to the voice of their brothers, sons of Israel. And the sons of Benjamin came together out of their cities to Gabaa, to go out to battle against sons of Israel. In that day the sons of Benjamin were reviewed, twenty-three hundred thousand men drawing a sword. All of these were slingers, throwing a stone at a hair and not missing. And every man of Israel—they were reviewed, apart from the sons of Benjamin, four hundred thousand men drawing a sword. All of these were men, warriors.

And they arose and went up to Baithel, and the sons of Israel inquired by God and said, “Who shall go up for us as leader, to fight with Benjamin?” And the Lord said, “Ioudas shall go up as leader.” And the sons of Israel arose and encamped against Gabaa. And every man of Israel went out to battle with Benjamin, and they mustered with them for battle, a man of Israel against Gabaa. And the sons of Benjamin came out of the city and destroyed among Israel in that day twenty-two thousand men upon the land. And a man of Israel was strong, and they added to draw up for war in the place, there where they had drawn up in the first day. And the sons of Israel went up and wept before the Lord until the evening, and they inquired by the Lord, saying, “Shall I add to draw near for war with my brother Benjamin?” And the Lord said, “Go up against him.”

And the sons of Israel set ambushes against Gabaa all around. And Israel drew up against Benjamin in the third day, and they deployed against Gabaa, as 'once and once'. And the sons of Benjamin went out to meet the people, and they were drawn away out of the city, and as 'once and once' they began to strike down some from the people along the roads, one of which goes up to Baithel and one goes up to Gabaa, in the fields, about thirty men in Israel. The sons of Benjamin went out to meet the people, and they formed up in Baalthamar, and the Israelite ambush was struggling out of its position, from Maaragabe. And there arrived in front of Gabaa ten thousand men, hand-picked from all Israel, and battle was grievous. And they did not realize that evil had touched them.

And the Lord routed Benjamin in front of Israel, and the sons of Israel destroyed twenty-five thousand one hundred men among Benjamin in that day; all these were drawing a sword. And Benjamin saw that he was routed.

And a man of Israel gave ground to Benjamin, because they looked to the ambush that they had stationed against Gabaa. And the ambush rushed forward, and they spread out against Gabaa, and the ambush advanced, and they struck down the whole city with the edge of the sword. And the command for a man of Israel as regards the ambush was that they should send up a signal of the smoke of the city. And they turned, a man of Israel, in the battle, and Benjamin had begun to strike down wounded in the man of Israel, about thirty men, for they said, "But being routed he is routed before us, just like the previous battle."

And the signal, a pillar of smoke, began to rise out of the city, and Benjamin looked behind him, and see, the annihilation of the city went up toward the sky! And a man of Israel turned back, and a man of Benjamin made haste, and he saw that evil had touched him. And they turned before a man of Israel in the direction of the wilderness, and the battle overtook them, and those from the cities destroyed him in their midst. And they cut down Benjamin, to stop him with a stopping, and they trampled him down until opposite Gabaa from the east. And there fell eighteen thousand men of Benjamin. With all these were powerful men. And they turned and fled into the wilderness to the rock of Remmon. And they gleaned five thousand men along the roads, and they clung on after him as far as Gadaam, and they struck down two thousand men of them. And all those who fell in that day among Benjamin were twenty-five thousand men who drew a sword. With all these were powerful men. And six hundred turned and fled into the wilderness to the rock of Remmon and remained at the rock of Remmon for four months. And a man of Israel shut out the sons of Benjamin, and they struck them down with the edge of the sword, from city, one after another, up to animal and up to everything that was found, into all the cities. And the cities that were found they sent off with fire.

And the sons of Israel had sworn at Massepha, saying, “A man out of us shall not give his daughter to Benjamin for a wife.” And all the people came to Massepha and Baithel and sat there until evening before God, and they lifted up their voice and wept with a great weeping. And they said, “O Lord, the God of Israel, why has this come about in Israel, that today in Israel one tribe should be reviewed?” And it came about in the next day that the people rose early, and they built an altar there and offered up whole burnt offerings of deliverance. And the sons of Israel said, “Who is the one who did not come up in the assembly to the Lord, out of all the tribes of Israel?” For there was a solemn oath against the one who did not come up to the Lord to Massepha, saying, “He will die by death.” And the sons of Israel were comforted concerning Benjamin their brother, and they said, “One tribe has been taken away from Israel this day. What are we to do for wives for them that are left? And it was we who swore by the Lord that we would not give them any of our daughters for wives.”

And they said, “What one of the tribes of Israel is there who did not come up to the Lord to Massepha?” And see, a man did not come from Iabis Galaad to the camp, to the assembly. And the people were reviewed, and see, there was not a man there of the inhabitants of Iabis Galaad. 10 And the congregation sent twelve thousand men there of the sons of power and commanded them, saying, "Go, and strike down all the inhabitants of Iabis Galaad with the edge of the sword, both the women and the people. 11 And this is the word that you shall carry out: everything male and every woman who is familiar with intercourse with a male you shall anathematize." 12 And they found from among the inhabitants of Iabis Galaad four hundred young women, virgins, who had not known a man for intercourse with a male, and they led them to the camp at Selo, which is in the land of Chanaan.

And the signal went up more clearly over the city, like a pillar of smoke, and Benjamin looked behind him, and see, the annihilation of the city went up to the sky! And a man of Israel wheeled around, and the men of Benjamin made haste, for they saw that wickedness had come to meet them. And in front of the sons of Israel they looked in the direction of the wilderness and fled, and the battle overtook upon them, and those from the cities were destroying them in their midst. And they were cutting down Benjamin, and they pursued him from Noua, at his heel, until opposite Gabaa to the east. And there fell eighteen thousand men from Benjamin, all these men of power. And the rest looked around and began to flee into the wilderness to the rock of Remmon. And the sons of Israel gleaned five thousand men of them, and the sons of Israel went down after them as far as Gedan, and they struck down two thousand men of them. And all who fell that day from Benjamin were twenty-five thousand men drawing a sword, all these men of power. And the rest looked around and fled into the wilderness to the rock of Remmon, six hundred men, and they remained at the rock of Remmon for four months. And the sons of Israel turned back against the sons of Benjamin and struck them down with the edge of the sword, from the city of Methla and up to animal and up to everything that could be found, into all the cities. And the cities that were found they burned with fire.

13 And the whole congregation sent, and they spoke to Beniamin, who was at the rock of Remmon, and called them to peace. 14 And Beniamin turned back to the sons of Israel in that time, and they gave them the women who were from among the women of Iabis Galaad, and in this way they were content.

15 And the people were comforted over Beniamin, because the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Israel. 16 And the elders of the congregation said, "What are we to do for wives for those who are left, since a woman has disappeared from Beniamin?" 17 And they said, "An inheritance has survived for Beniamin, and a tribe will not be blotted out from Israel. 18 And we will not be able to give them wives from among our daughters, for we, the sons of Israel, swore, saying, 'Cursed be the one who gives a wife to Beniamin.' " 19 And they said, "There is a feast to the Lord at Selo from days to days, which is to the north of Baithel, to the east, by the road that goes up from Baithel to Sichem, and to the south of Lebanon."

20 And they commanded the sons of Beniamin, saying, "Spread out, and lie in wait in the vineyards. 21 And you will watch, and see, when the daughters of the inhabitants of Selo in Selo come out to dance in their dances, you shall also come out from the vineyards and carry off, a man a wife for himself, from the daughters of Selo, and you shall go away to the land of Beniamin. 22 And it will be, when their fathers or their brothers come to dispute with you, that we will say to them, 'Have mercy on them, because they did not capture, a man his wife, in war. For it was not you who gave to them; you erred based on circumstance.' " 23 And the sons of Beniamin did so, and they took wives according to their number from the dancers whom they abducted. And they went away and turned back to their inheritance, and they built cities for themselves and lived in them. 24 And the sons of Israel went about from there in that time, a man to his tribe and to his family, and they went away from there, a man to his own inheritance.

25 In those days there was no king in Israel; each man would do what was right in his own eyes.

there of the inhabitants of Iabis Galaad. 10 And the congregation sent twelve thousand men there of the sons of power and commanded them, saying, "Go, and strike down all the inhabitants of Iabis Galaad with the edge of the sword. 11 And this is what you will do: everything male and every woman who knows intercourse with a male you shall anathematize, but keep the virgins for yourselves." 12 And they did so. 12 And they found from among the inhabitants of Iabis Galaad four hundred young women, virgins who had not known a man for intercourse with a male, and they brought them to the camp at Selon, which is in the land of Chanaan.

13 And the whole congregation sent, and they spoke to the sons of Benjamin at the rock of Remmon and called them to peace. 14 And Benjamin returned to the sons of Israel in that time, and the sons of Israel gave them the women whom they had caused to live from among the daughters of Iabis Galaad, and in this way they were content.

15 And the people were comforted over Benjamin, because the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Israel. 16 And the elders of the congregation said, "What are we to do for wives for those who are left over, since a woman disappeared from Benjamin?" 17 And they said, "There is an inheritance of survivors for Benjamin, and a tribe will not be blotted out from Israel. 18 For we will not be able to give them wives from among our daughters, for we swore among the sons of Israel, saying, 'Cursed be the one who gives a wife to Benjamin.' " 19 And they said, "See now, there is a feast of the Lord at Selon from days to days, which is to the north of Baithel, to the east, by the road that goes up from Baithel to Sichem, and to the south of Lebanon."

20 And they commanded the sons of Benjamin, saying, "Go, lie in wait in the vineyards. 21 And you will watch, and see, if the daughters of the inhabitants of Selon come out to dance in their dances, you shall also come out of the vineyards; then carry off for yourselves, a man a wife, from the daughters of Selon, and you shall go to the land of Benjamin. 22 And it will be, when their fathers or their brothers come to dispute with you, that we will say to them, 'Do us mercy concerning them, because we did not capture, a man his wife, in battle. For it is not you who have given them to them; err as circumstance dictates!' " 23 And the sons of Benjamin did so, and they took wives up to their number from the dancers whom they abducted. And they went and turned back to their inheritance, and they built the cities and settled in them. 24 And the sons of Israel went about from there in that time, a man to his tribe and to his family, and they went out from there, a man to his own inheritance.

25 Now in those days there was no king in Israel; a man would do what was right before him.
